By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Truman will make a major pronouncement on American foreign policy this weekend during a visit to his home state of Missouri.

Two speeches on foreign policy are scheduled during a trip which will take him to the University of Missouri, at Columbia, on Friday, and to St. Louis, on Saturday.

Lawrence Co. To Move Into Fifth Class

New Castle Census Figures Given To Mayor Not Complete

Preliminary Totals On 1950 Census

Lawrence County	105,085
New Castle	48,850
Ellwood City	11,143
New Wilmington	1,932
Bessemer	1,480
Ellport	1,126
Wampum	1,088
Volant (est.)	267

New Castle's population, according to the preliminary 1950 census report today, is 48,850 instead of 47,947, as reported on Wednesday.

Lawrence county goes into fifth class county classification with 105,085, the census report shows.

These figures were reported today by Census Director James W. Moorehead. Mr. Moorehead explained that his report of 47,947 to Mayor John F. Haven yesterday for the city of New Castle was merely preliminary and that at the time the report was made there was still one enumerator district out.

May Be Larger

The figure of 48,850 is still unofficial in that the final check of the U. S. Census department has not been made. It is possible that this figure will be still further increased when some additions of people who were not counted are added.

The figures for the townships are not yet ready for publication, but will be released later.

When the figures for the townships are released they will undoubtedly show sizeable increases for Neshannock, Union and Shenango townships, with Neshannock probably leading.

Greater New Castle 65,000

The city of New Castle and the boroughs account for approximately 66,000 people, leaving slightly over 39,000 to be divided among 17 townships. Such townships as Wayne, Perry, Slippery Rock townships and Pulaski are not heavily populated, which seems to indicate that Neshannock, Union and Shenango will show heavy population figures.

From the preliminary figures it would seem to indicate that New Castle has a Greater New Castle population of near 65,000, considering the fact that the population segregation is heavy in those parts of Neshannock, Shenango, Union, Hickory and Taylor townships fringing the city.

Search North Sea For Seven Missing U.S. Airmen

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, June 8.—(INS)—The rescue of two more American airmen today brought to four the number of crew members saved from the North Sea in the crash of a B-26 bomber while on a training flight.

One airman is known dead an six others still are missing in the accident which occurred off the English coast.

LONDON, June 8.—(INS)—A widespread search of the North Sea off the English coast was made today by ships and planes for seven American fliers missing in the crash of a B-29 bomber in which at least one man died.

The body of the unidentified crew member who was killed was brought in to Lowestoft along with two survivors, Capt. Henry J. Walsh and Staff Sergeant Warren J. Ebert.

A third survivor was rescued by a British admiralty ship at 8 a.m. after remaining in the water all night supported by a life jacket.

Man Picked Up

A radio message from the survey ship, H. M. S. Scott, said that the man it picked up, Staff Sgt. Charles F. Allen, was "quite fit" and would remain aboard while the Scott continued searching.

A Royal Air Force plane reported sighting a fourth B-29 survivor and surface vessels were signalled to proceed to the location.

The British trawler Warren took Walsh and Ebert into Lowestoft along with the body.

Hope that additional survivors would be found was heightened by reports that the seven missing men were seen to bail out of the plane 18 miles northeast of Smithknool.

Urges Arms Aid

WASHINGTON, D. C.—General George C. Marshall, former Secretary of State shown as he told the House Foreign Affairs committee that failure to build up Europe's defenses against Soviet aggression would be "fatal". New Figure In Amerasia Trial Delay

Check Testimony That Forrestal May Have Asked Delay

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Senate loyalty investigators are checking testimony today that former Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal was the government official who asked for a delay in prosecution of the Amerasia case.

An informed source disclosed that the testimony was given to the Tydings committee by James M. McInerney, now head of the criminal division in the Justice department.

Not Too Positive

McInerney was described, however, as not too positive in his identification of the late cabinet officer.

At first, he told the Senate committee he seemed to recall that Forrestal asked the Justice department to delay the arrests in the stolen documents case.

Later, it was learned, he found a memorandum in his files which made him feel more certain that Forrestal had made the request.

The mention of Forrestal, who was secretary of the navy at the time of the Amerasia case in 1945, followed another witness' testimony that the request may have been made by former presidential aide James K. Vardaman, Jr.

Vardaman, who was naval aide at the White House in 1945, promptly and vehemently denied that he had anything to do with such a request.

Parish House Plans Given

Trinity Church To Ready Falls Home

Rev. Father Ralph E. Hovencamp, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, revealed today that plans have been completed by the church vestry for the immediate renovation and occupancy of the former Falls residence adjacent to the church, which is to be transformed into a parish house.

The plans which are presently in the blueprint stage will be put into effect right away and carpenters, painters and other workmen will change the structure into a modern parish house and church school quarters which should be ready for occupancy by September 1. The building which lies to the north of the church on North Mill street will be named the Falls Memorial Parish House.

To Be Rebuilt Inside

When the old residence is rebuilt inside, it will contain quarters for the new curator of the church who will assist in the church work and operation of the parish work. It will house the parish office and the pastor's study. The second and third floors are to be turned into church school rooms according to Rev. Hovencamp. Two of the rooms are to have partition removed providing an assembly room for 40 to 50 persons with a collapsible wall to be installed di-

Auto Shoots Off Pier And Sinks; Four Escape

HYANNIS, Mass., June 8.—(INS)—A new automobile, the accelerator stuck to the floorboard, roared off a Cape Cod pier today with two couples as passengers, sheared off the mast and superstructure of a small dragger and sank in 20 feet of water.

And all four passengers escaped without injury.

The quick action of the two young men was credited with averting tragedy. While the car was in space they flung open the doors. Then John Joakim, Jr., 26, and Coastas Arvanitas, 20, dragged their girl companions from the sunken car and swam to land with them.

The two men, former Hyannis high school athletes, said the accelerator jammed just as they turned into a parking lot adjacent to a bulkhead to which the 38-foot Dragger Sea Hawk was moored.

The car shot for the water at high speed and knocked down a heavy wooden post before entering the dock.

The four passengers reached land just as fire and police apparatus arrived in response to an alarm. The girls were taken to their homes by police who withheld their identities.

Anthony Eden Is Granted Divorce

LONDON, June 8.—(INS)—Former British foreign secretary Anthony Eden was granted a decree nisi of divorce in the London law courts today on grounds of his wife's desertion.

Eden went through with his action to terminate his marriage of 27 years to the wealthy daughter of Sir Gervase Beckett despite suggestions that it might ruin him politically and eliminate any future chances of his becoming prime minister of Great Britain.

Dulles To Make Trip To Japan

To Discuss Peace Treaty For Japan With Gen. MacArthur

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Top level sources said today that the forthcoming meeting between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and John Foster Dulles may determine whether the United States will press for a Japanese peace treaty.

Dulles, GOP foreign policy advisor to the state department, will leave for Tokyo next Wednesday. He will be accompanied by a department advisor, his wife and secretary. His two-week visit will include a side-trip to Korea.

The Republican expert is known to favor a peace treaty at once, without the participation of Russia and communist China. However, he wants the advice and current opinion of Gen. MacArthur, supreme allied commander in Japan.

Responsible quarters claim that as far back as two years ago, MacArthur wanted an early treaty followed by withdrawal of occupation forces.

Vardaman Says He Did Not Ask For Any Delay

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Former Presidential Aide James K. Vardaman emphatically denied today that he had any part in asking the Justice Department to delay prosecution in the 1945 Amerasia case.

Vardaman, now on the Federal Reserve Bank Board, will appear before the Senate loyalty investigating committee Friday to answer testimony reportedly linking him with the stolen documents case.

Brig. Gen. Julius Holmes, former assistant secretary of state, told the committee he believed it was the White House naval aide who asked for a temporary stay of the Amerasia prosecution.

Informed sources said Holmes gave this as his best recollection, and said under questioning in the closed committee session that Vardaman then held the naval post.

Holmes earlier had told reporters that someone "not in the state department" requested the delay.

Drive Against Reds In Japan Is Continued

By JOHN RICH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, June 8.—Gen. MacArthur's drive to uproot communist inflences in Japan took a new turn today with the arrest of two top officers of the Japanese government employes' union.

Two other union officials previously were arrested. The four are held on charges of engaging in activities against the Allied occupation.

Specifically, the union leaders are accused of having written and distributed a statement addressed to Gen. MacArthur, demanding the immediate release of eight Japanese anti-American rioters.

The eight were given prison sentences by a U. S. army provost court last Saturday for beating and stoning five American soldiers in a Memorial Day demonstration.

Paper Is Changed

The communist party's official newspaper Akahata appeared today without any direct anti-American articles or headlines such as it printed daily for weeks past. This followed Gen. MacArthur's order of yesterday, purging Akahata's 17 editors from their jobs and from all other public activity.

The red paper was "scooped" on the banishment of its editors from public life because of the Allied supreme commander's purge order had not become textually available when Akahata's Thursday edition was printed.

But the editors who stepped into the vacated jobs of the purgees last night already had gotten into the point of Gen. MacArthur's anger sufficiently to drop the paper's long-standing campaign against "big tall men in little jeeps"—Akahata's customary reference to Americans.

Says Senate May Not Pass Extension Of Rent Control Law

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Senate Democratic Leader Lucas said today that the administration may not be able to muster enough Senate votes to pass a six-months extension of federal rent control.

The Illinois senator told newsmen that "a lot" of Democrats are opposed to the extension law. He indicated that he did not think many Republicans would support the bill.

Federal cent ceilings are scheduled to die June 30 unless they are extended by Congress.

Despite his uncertainty as to the outcome, Lucas said he wanted to get a vote as quickly as possible on the rent legislation.

He threatens to hold a night session of the Senate tomorrow in an effort to break a filibuster agains the bill by Sen. Cain (R) Wash., and get a vote.

Cain began his fight to delay Senate action yesterday in a speech of more than three hours. He got a rest this afternoon when the Senate set aside the rent issue to act on minor, non-controversial bills.

PARISH HOUSE PLANS GIVEN

viding the room into smaller class rooms if desired.

A chapel is also to be installed in the parish house which will be used for small week day services and other services of the church which can be held there. A back entrance is to be provided which will permit easy access to the building from the main church building.

Changes Planned

The renovation plans include the removal of the front porch and a larger door installed there for easy entrance to the structure. A new gas furnace has been installed which permits heating of both units of the building simultaneously. The church school is to occupy the south side of the building while the study and office will be placed on the north side. The older church school classes will occupy the class rooms on the third floor of the structure.

If present plans materialize, all parts of the building, with perhaps the exception of the third floor should be in use by September 1. A suitable dedicatory program is being arranged for the building.

With the influx of Canadian coins locally, vacation season must officially be in progress. Local church treasurers are finding a number of the coins in the offering plates. The coins are generally turned in for a smaller sum than they are actually worth while some banks will not accept them.

Local churches are making extensive plans for "Children's Day" which will be observed generally throughout the city next Sunday. Special programs in the morning have been planned in most of the churches.

King George's life guards were given a part in the ceremony for the first time in 12 years.

Queen Elizabeth, Dowager Queen Mary, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, along with other members of the royal family and household, were assigned viewing places on a balcony overlooking the parade ground.

Princess Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the throne, on previous occasions has taken a major part in the "trooping". This year, however, her participation was prevented by the fact she is expecting a second child in August.

YOUTH IS SHOT TO DEATH NEAR WEST FALLS ST.

which he had shot Wiley, at the officers. Weiss and Rozzi leaped from the car, and as Weiss struck Warden over the head with his service pistol, Rozzi grabbed the rifle and took it from him.

Follows Argument

According to John L. Perkins, and Willie Fears, who were with Warden, the shooting followed an argument between Warden and Erma Bennings, Warden's girl friend, in which Warden accused Miss Bennings, of calling the police on him Sunday, after Warden is alleged to have jumped on her and beat her. Miss Bennings stated that part of the argument was over him spending his money for liquor. Miss Bennings said that Warden said, "You won't call the police any more".

He is then said to have gone into the Fears home and got a .22 calibre, repeating target rifle, which he had borrowed from John W. Gilmore of 321 W. Grant street, but which belonged to the former's brother Fred D. Gilmore, of 256 W. Falls street.

Fired At Girl

Miss Bennings stated that she started to walk down the Erie railroad tracks, when Warden, who had procured the rifle, fired at her. She said she turned around and started to walk towards him, when he took deliberate aim to fire again. She said she turned around and then ran back down the tracks.

Wheels And Shoots Wiley

Wiley and Perkins were attempting to divert Warden's aim, and after he had fired two shots at the girl, Warden turned around and started to walk up the tracks toward Grant street. Wiley called to him, saying, "Hey, Eddie," whereupon Warden wheeled and fired into the group, which then contained Wiley, Perkins, and Fears. The bullet struck Wiley in the upper part of the left chest. He staggered in Perkins arms to West Falls street, where he fell down, and expired.

Police were notified by Mrs. Carrie Cobb, and went to the scene. A doctor was summoned also, who pronounced Wiley dead. Coroner Charles E. Allen was notified and had Wiley's body removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where an autopsy performed this morning, revealed that the bullet had penetrated the chest and passed through the upper part of left lung, perforating the pulmonary artery. It also passed through the bronchial tubes, Wiley dying in a few moments from hemorrhages caused by the wound.

Had Been Drinking

Perkins and Fears stated that they, with Wiley, had been with Warden since around 12:30 o'clock that day, and that they had done some drinking. They met Erma Bennings, Warden's girl friend, near Moravia and Home street, and had gone to the Fears home again. Warden had stopped along the way at the state liquor store and purchased a bottle of wine, which the men drank in a box car along the Erie railroad siding above Washington street.

Warden was brought to the city police station, along with Miss Bennings, Perkins, and Fears, where they were later questioned in the presence of District Attorney Sherman K. Levine, and County Detective Howard C. Klebe. Perkins and Fears are being held as material witnesses, pending a formal hearing and inquest.

Born In Adamsburg

Robert Wiley was born in Adamsburg, Pa., March 5, 1928, son of Robert Wiley, Sr., who is deceased and Mrs. Callie Robertson, this city.

He was a member of the Lawrence Lodge No. 18, of Elks.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Virginia Wiley; he leaves four brothers: Elmer, Charles, Steve and John; and three sisters: Mary Ann, Evelyn, this city; and Mrs. Cora Mae Brown, of Pittsburgh; and three uncles.

The body will be taken to the Crunkleton funeral home and will be removed to the residence of his mother, Mrs. Callie Robertson, 1129 Sciota street, where friends may call after Sunday at 3 a.m.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m., in the Church of God in Christ, Moravia street, Elder Shepherd Threats in charge.

Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

THE TROJAN WHALE

Over the centuries, the mighty whale has been the victim of cruel capitalistic exploitation and greed. He cannot be blamed for resenting such treatment and doing his best to circumvent it. So it is not surprising to read in Izvestia that when Communist fleets go out to liberate him, he greets them joyously and blesses the name of Stalin.

The Moscow publication says Communist whales, despite their inexperience, have begun to prove that collectivist methods—at least if they are rigidly Marxist-Stalinist—get more whales. The rugged individualism of capitalism makes the chase a matter of every boat for itself. But the comradely Russians all gang up on one whale, and treat hem as they treat all whom the liberate. They sink the harpoon into him.

If they had read the Bible, they might have learned of a method even better adapted to Communist tactics. A man named Jonah once found himself inside a whale, but not having read Marx, he didn't know how to bore from within. A whale got away.

The Greeks had quite an idea, too, with their Trojan horse. Communism, which is a great spur to invention, should not have too much trouble working out uses for Trojan whales. Why, they'd beat snorkels all hollow! If communism is better at catching whales, it should be better at using them.

If the whales catch onto present methods, Communists can easily devise others. A typical four-hour speech on dialectic and deviationism by a political commissar should convince any whale that he has been out-spouted.

Capitalists who catch whales find various commercial uses for their by-products, dissecting them for whalebone and rendering the carcass for whale oil. But it must be admitted that the Russians are the first to render a whale for banana oil.

WEAPONS AND STATEGY

Perhaps the atomic artillery shells and the atomic warheads on guided missiles disclosed by a Defense department official were the new weapons hinted at by Defense Secretary Johnson in a Memorial Day speech. At any rate, the announcement was timed—whether by chance or by design—to make a great deal of difference in the attitude toward future defense strategy held by Uncle Sam's allies on the European continent.

Secretary of State Acheson told Congress the other day that major decisions on the strategy for defending western freedom had been reached at London. This strategy assigned air and sea roles to Britain, Canada and the United States, land roles to France, Italy and the low countries.

As Europe sees it, all the dirty work, the messy, bloody infighting, and the unpopular conscription, will be left to nations already bled white of their manpower during two recent wars. The impression is widespread that Secretary Acheson, by his utterances to Congress, has added to confusion and plunged the continental allies deeper into gloom.

Offensive weapons, such as artillery shells with atomic bursting charges, and guided missiles with atomic warheads, are also great defensive weapons against massed fronts such as the Soviet might put in the field should it decide to overrun western Europe. New Arms in the arsenal can possibly do away with the need for a mass army of the traditional type to defend western Europe.

That seems to be the general idea Washington is now trying to get across to nations outside the iron curtain on the European continent.

THE GOOD LIFE

The state of Iowa, through an industrial development commission is doing effective national advertising. It advises industry that it will make just as much money in Iowa and its personnel will live longer.

"The pace that kills is becoming faster every day," states this advertisement. "Congested metropolitan centers are sweeping tense and restless workers farther and farther away from the relaxing pleasures of spacious, quiet living. Even determined spending does not always buy relaxation for city dwellers. It often buys unrest."

Most Americans today are searching for the good life. They aren't finding it in the uncomfortably packed and congested cities. The politicians are trying to persuade them that the good life is in more reliance upon government programs. That isn't working so well either.

The good life is a combination of work and invigorating play in the clean out-of-doors. Midwesterners should hope, however, that the idea doesn't catch on to the point that the painful congestion is transferred to the prairies.

Latest craze in Japan is a Nipponese version of the U.S. square dance. Probably looks like jiu-jitsu set to music.

A radioactive golf ball is being tested. Oddly enough, it is intended to curb rather than abet explosive tempers.

Governor Dewey calls that Fair Deal a Faro Deal. Possibly Tom never played the game. In faro they deal the cards one at a time—off the top.

Experts say the spring season is disappearing, and eventually winter will be followed by summer. Apparently there is nothing amateur poets can do about it.

There is a big building boom in Washington, D. C., to house the ever-growing army of bureaucrats. But that doesn't account for the big demand for federal whitewash.

'Peace Congress' To Assemble

A communist attempt to work on the intellectuals of Vienna in an effort to compensate for political and propaganda defeats in many parts of the world is prepared today.

Another communist-backed "peace congress" is to assemble on June 10.

The sponsors plan to produce two of their greatest drawing cards, French atomic scientist Frederic Joliot-Curie and the Rev. Hewlett Johnson, who is known as the "Red Dean" of Canterbury Cathedral.

One of the main indications of the potential importance of this meeting is the fact that the Austrian government is taking urgent measures to discredit it in advance.

The cabinet of Chancellor Leopold Figl has branded it as "political abuse" and numerous important persons and organizations —including the Austrian Trade Union Federation—have gone on record in opposition.

Governmental Concern

Governmental concern is highlighted by the fact that Austria has achieved a remarkable showing in combating communism.

The electorate remains staunchly anti-communist. The reds never have polled more than 5 per cent of a popular ballot. All provincial mayors and legislative officials have been voted out of office; the communists have not been able to foment a single strike.

But the "peace congress" concept seeks to ignore the existence of politics and labor as such and concentrates on making an emotional appeal to the well-educated.

Vienna has perhaps as much illiteracy and educational deficiencies as any large city.

But it prides itself upon its intellect and cosmopolitanism. The poorest beggar knows that his city is famed throughout the world for its music, learning and charm, and looks with awe and admiration upon the men and women of past and present who establish this reputation.

Against Meetings

Both the Roman Catholic and Protestant churches of Austria have acted against the forthcoming meeeting. The Catholic archdiocese has asked its followers to sign no communist-inspired "peace petition" and the Protestant leadership has washed its hands of the affair, although Johnson will be present and a Protestant clergyman is listed as chairman of the meeting.

In Germany, too, another communist "peace movement" is in the making, and this may prove to be more troublesome than the Austrian one.

German communist leaders have announced plans for another mass rally. But this one is scheduled to be held at the city of Bonn on the Rhine, capital of the west German republic.

The west German people have shown on numerous occasions their determination not to be dominated by communism or to permit its interference in their lives.

They were fully prepared to resist with force any attempt at a communist seizure of western Berlin during the Whitsuntide rally on May 28.

Danger Of Violence

The Bonn meeting thus holds out a great danger of violence when and if it takes place.

The ancient university city was long a stronghold of nazism.

Adolf Hitler loved the Rhineland because he always could be sure of a tempestuous welcome, whether he was at Bonn, Godesberg or Cologne. There are critics who say today that a great deal of nazism remains in this area and that its influence has been brought to bear on the west German Bonn government.

So far as Austria is concerned, there is no question that it would be a great victory for communism if any extensive movement could be launched at the present time.

The word "peace" has a strong appeal for the Austrians. They have been credited officially with entering the second world war unwillingly. The situation was different in the first conflict. But that left the nation so impoverished and divided that for years the thought of another destructive war was horrifying. It remains to be seen whether the communist "activists" are able to make any impression on the Austrian consciousness.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PREPARE CHILDREN FOR ADULTHOOD

Near the end of a course on the pre-school child at Western Reserve university, which I taught some years ago, a mother in the class made a remark I shall never forget. Said she: "As I see it now we are not only considering ways of bringing up our children to be useful and happy persons but also to be good wives and husbands, mothers and fathers."

Of course; all good ways of child rearing from birth onward prepare well for wholesome, happy family life. Indeed, the patterns of relationship between the father and mother to which the growing child is exposed are foremost in establishing his own family patterns by and by. Without knowing it, all parents begin with the baby and continue as this child grows, to help determine to a considerable degree the kind of mate this child will choose by and by, how successful this child's marriage will become, and the kind of parent he or she will be.

In Early Teens

Obviously, interest in the opposite sex, in marriage and family life rather strongly and suddenly arise in the early teens. High school students eagerly desire, therefore, to discuss and think through these matters in the classroom under wise leadership. From doing so, they ought to grow better prepared themselves for family life.

In recent years some good text books have developed for this purpose. The most recent and wholesome one to come to my attention is "Family Living" by Dr. Evelyn Mills Duvall, executive secretary, National Council on Family Relations. Indeed, I should like each of our 11 grandchildren, as soon as they are old enough, to read this book and discuss it with their parents and teachers.

Parents and teachers will like the wholesome tone throughout "Family Living". It helps the youth to gain a wholesome attitude toward his parents and toward other youths and to acquire a sense of personal responsibility. It is well suited for classes of boys and girls together. As it presents facts nad problems objectively, the teacher or parent using it with groups of youths does not have to be an expert on the matter contained in it.

Across the Country

Dr. Duvall in this book has her feet on the ground. Serving for many years as family-relations consultant for schools across the country, the author has worked with thousands of high school students and their teachers in demonstration programs.

With "Family Life" and other good texts appearing for high school students, we can hope for many more courses in family life for both boys and girls. These courses need not be limited, as so often has occurred, to courses in home economics (which usually attract girls only).

"Family Living" is a very readable book appealing to practically any person and is embellished with unusual illustrations. It covers such matters as these: How grown-up are you? What should parents and youths expect of each other? When are you ready for marriage? What makes marriage successful? Under the heading, "How Far Is Too Far?" one reads: "When a couple (going steady) have gone so far that they are left tense and overly stimulated, they have gone too far." So also "if either of them has difficulty getting to sleep after they have had a date." Or when either or both feel embarrassed next morning, cannot meet each other's eyes in the same old friendly way; "when she wonders how he feels about her now, and he feels guilty about having gone so far, they have gone too far."

BEST SORT OF TROUBLE

She said: "We wanted trouble; to be summoned out of bed
To set aright the pillow for a little, tousled head.
And this is why we married: to do all the many things
Which comprise the sort of trouble a little baby brings.

"Are children too much trouble, as some people think and say?
Well, for just that sort of trouble to the Lord we'd often pray.
We wanted to be worried, to be bothered by such care,
And in the glad excitement children often cause to share.

"We knew that pleasure-seeking very seldom we could roam,
But we wanted all those evenings we should have to stay at home.
We knew if we had children, time to them we'd have to give.
Yes, at times, they are a trouble; but that's how we asked to live."

Letters To A Columnist

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

One of the things I would like to do is answer every single blessed letter written to me by readers. If I could do this, it not only would add to the number of my readers but would give me the satisfaction of being gracious and courteous.

I do my very best to answer the letters that I get, and I always answer them myself, one of the reasons for this personal service being that I do not have a secretary. My wife, Jean, has long wanted me to have a secretary, but she insists that I have a young and pretty one whereas I want a rather stout woman of advanced years. To date, we have not been able to see eye to eye on a secretary. So, I have to do my own secretarial work.

The letters I don't answer are letters which ask me things I don't know. I opened a batch of mail today. After reading it I could not be sure whether the writers knew me as a columnist or as a stout, red-headed encyclopedia.

Some Examples

Even without your permission, I would like to give you a few examples. Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Beck, of Hialeah, Florida, ask me to advise them where they could enter the contest for the most beautiful royal poinciana tree. I just couldn't give them this information. I am a natural storehouse of information, but I don't know where this tree exhibit is going to be held. If I were not appreciative of their letter I would tell them to be in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, say, at 10:00 a. m. on July 11th, tree in hand. But such misinformation would not only cost me two readers, it would brand me as one of the universe's most distinguished heels.

From Tyler, Texas, comes a letter from Horace J. Backwelder. Enclosed is a column I wrote a month or so ago expressing my objection to the American Plan in hotels. Mr. Blackwelder, after the usual salutation, said, "Why don't you go put on your shirt and collar, tie and coat? That'll make you look like a horse." I don't know whether that is Mr. Bacwelder's private code and means that I am a charming, delightful fellow with whom he would like to be cast away on a desert island. But if it's the plain English I understand, how can I answer Mr. Backwelder? I don't want to look like a horse, much less a horse who goes around wearing a shirt, a collar, a tie and a coat. But to tell him that might cause him to think that I'm an odd sort of chap, and I don't want any reader to think that I'm odd. I want them to believe, even if it isn't true, that I'm a normal as a temperature of 98.6, trains that jerk when they start, and puppies that chew chings.

How Much Do I Want

Herbert L. Clevenger, who resides in Philadelphia, wants to know how much I want for the two mis-matched brass candlesticks which I mentioned in a story about spring housecleaning earlier in this month. Mr. Clevenger wants to buy them, but failed to mention in his letter how much money he had in the bank. If he's a man of moderate means and can't go for too much, I'd let him have the candlesticks for 35 or 40 cents. But if he's a well-heeled gent, and has never had to post-date a check, I'd like to sell him the candlesticks for as much as I can possibly rook him out of.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cutna, of Los Angeles, wants to know the best way to go around the world by freighter, including the name of a freighter, countries to visit, prices, etc. That's a large order. If they'd asked me about traveling on a cattle boat, they would have found the right man for sure. Back in the days when I was failing in college, I crossed to Europe on a boat devoted entirely to the welfare of cows. My job was to feed them. Nothing eats like a cow at sea.

Cows are right good trenchermen on land, but let them feel a rolling boat, hear the soft slap of the waves against the sides of a boat, let them hear a whistle during a fog, and they can put on an exhibition of free-style eating that cannot be equalled. I was in charge of 30 cows, and to the best of my remembrance each one of them ate five tons of cow food a day. And I was the fellow who had to fork it up and give it to them. I reached Europe weighing 13 pounds, which is mighty light for a 19-year-old boy. They admitted me to England as a fountain pen, not a human being.

Please, all you sweet and lovely people who do not get replies from me, remember I would write you if I knew what to tell you. Don't hold my silence against me.

State Police Say:

Many a career is ended by some thoughtless or careless mistake in traffic. It doesn't take much—maybe a few inches over the center line of the highway, a right or left turn just a second too soon, a few miles per hour above a safe driving speed. Any of these mistakes can crush out a life in an instant. These fatal accidents you read about in your newspaper may not mean much to you, but in some home they mean a real tragedy.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(By International News Service)

Congress is having a little trouble getting up the perfect tax bill which will give both the people and the president more money to spend.

Mr. Truman is for any kind of tax cut which won't cut revenue which is the same as being for any kind of apple pie which doesn't contain apples.

The kind of tax cut which doesn't cut hasn't been invented yet . . . not even by the most willing administration economist.

But there are signs of government generosity, national and state . . . the federal tax on electric toasters may be lifted and Louisiana is getting ready to cut the sales tax on tombstones.

The slogan will be "why live taxed in any other state when you can get a tax free tombstone if you die in Louisiana?"

If this doesn't boost migration from the north, nothing will.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

If you were to go up and down the street . . . asking this question . . . What is the most important problem in New Castle today? You will find that eight out of ten people will say . . . Solve the traffic problem.

* * *

Yes . . . traffic is the main item of thought . . . but we need more than thought . . . we need action. We need to solve problems of today and we need to plan for tomorrow. For the past three years a group of civic minded individuals (GNCA, PMTA) have been working on a plan for tomorrow . . . a plan that will help solve the heavy traffic that will come with tomorrow . . . and this plan has been spelled out on paper . . . and these citizens have taken this spelled out plan to the men of council . . . Asking them to pass an ordinance that will provide the right-of-way for a main "through-town" traffic artery for tomorrow's heavy traffic . . . This will not cost the city a red cent today . . . to ordinance a traffic route . . . and it will let the property owners throughout the community know what to expect in the future. But council can't seem to get the idea, which they have approved in informal meetings, down in black and white legal form.

* * *

Now it's true this plan will not relieve traffic congestion right today . . . but it will do wonders in helping plan for the future and will eliminate costly changes that are bound to be needed when a plan of the future is not in operation.

* * *

Back to that question you might have asked your fellow citizen . . . on today's traffic problem . . . solving this will cost money . . . and rightly so . . . A traffic squad of six men . . . men who know and understand the art of moving traffic during rush hours would be money well spent. Mayor Haven we are behind you one hundred percent on this item, and we know that many, many other citizens are too . . . we have asked them . . . So take the bit in your teeth and work yourself up a good intelligent traffic squad.

* * *

All the red and green traffic lights in the United States won't solve our narrow street traffic problems . . . but traffic men and one way streets during rush hours would help.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Gulf Between Words And Deeds

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Truman has spoken a great many earnest words about government reorganization and government efficiency in pushing for the Hoover commission's plan to re-shape the federal colossus. But as so often, the Gulf between words and deeds is an abyss that compares with the Grand Canyon.

Congress gave the President the power to make over the maritime commission and re-shape the Department of Commerce to consolidate authority over transportation agencies in the department. This was a move long urgently needed.

Uses It For Promotion

Having been given this new authority, the President promptly used it to promote one commissioner who had come under congressional criticism for mismanagement, irresponsibility and incompetence while at the same time ignoring the claims of another member of the Maritime commission who has repeatedly sought by his dissents to meet the charges leveled by Congress.

The President nominated Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, formerly chairman of the commission, to be undersecretary of commerce. Under reorganization this is a most important office with authority over transportation agencies in the Commerce department. But Fleming, his career in the army and government notwithstanding, has hardly demonstrated his ability to take over this new and responsible assignment.

In fact a House sub-committee has twice been sharply critical of the way in which the now abolished Maritime commission lavishly dispensed government funds in subsidies to American shipbuilders. While recognizing the need to encourage ship construction for defense purposes, the committee nevertheless found that the law had been stretched repeatedly so that the shipping lines were risking comparatively little of their capital while letting the government underwrite a guarantee of profits.

Building Super-Liner

The United States Lines is building a super-liner which will cost $70,000,000 plus. The line is putting in $7,000,000 in cash and over the life of the vessel another $21,000,000. But the latter can be paid out of the operating subsidy provided by the government in addition to the construction subsidy.

A special tax gimmick in the Maritime act of 1936 gave the lines exemptions which may have been necessary then in view of the difficulty of raising capital for ship construction. But the lines made huge wartime profits, thanks in no small part to this gimmick. Thus one company paid $570,000 in federal taxes since 1936 whereas without the special examption it would have paid $13,846,000.

The sub-committee's first report did not reflect on General Fleming since he had only recently taken over the chairmanship of the commission which had become a kind of feather bed or retired admirals. But the second report censured him for lack of understanding, quibbling and delay in failing to review shipbuilding contracts previously let. Similar criticism had come from the general accounting office.

Ignored By President

The former Maritime commissioner ignored by the President is Raymond S. McKeough, for five years a commission member. A political appointee, McKeough mastered the intricacies of maritime authority and regulation and in repeated dissents protested against the kind of practices resembling those which led 15 years ago to a Senate investigation that brought out appalling misuses of the taxpayers' money.

With the commission abolished under the reorganization act, there is created in the Department of Commerce a Federal Maritime board of three members, one of whom is chairman. The chairman is also the Maritime administrator. The President named three "acting" members to this board but McKeough, who had the strongest political endorsements from his home state of Illinois, was not on the list.

Shipping interests are pressing hard for bigger and better subsidies. The report persists that Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer will resign in the late summer or early fall. Candidate of the shipping lines to replace him is said to be George L. Killion, former treasurer of the Democratic National committee. Killion was put in as head of the American President Lines in which the government exercises a controlling interest growing out of loans advanced to the lines.

Can Be Nullified

No matter how well-intentioned policy may be, it can be nullified by appointing men out of sympathy with that policy or incapable of administering it. President Truman vetoed the Kerr Natural Gas Bill with a strong message of rejection and then a few weeks later reappointed Nelson Lee Smith to a member of the Federal Power commission although it was Smith who recommended to Congress that independent natural gas producers be taken out from under Federal regulation.

The pattern of presidential appointments in the Department of Interior stands out in strong contrast. There two new assistant secretaries named under re-organization—Verno D. Northrop and Dale E. Doty—are both career men who have advanced in the department on the record of efficiency and initiative. Deeds must match words if re-organization is to be effective.

ATTENTION ALL ENGAGED COUPLES:

"Whoa!"

Wait until the "Planned Parenthood Assoviation" starts a "premarriage service" in your community.

They are doing it in Norwalk, Conn., and as I understand in several other cities.

Don't make the same mistake your mothers and fathers did, and your grandmothers and grandfathers.

Don't make the same mistake my wife and I made.

Your forefathers and foremothers had the mistaken idea that marriage was based on love, on companionship, on mutual understanding.

Silly boys! Silly girls!

Marriage isn't any of that at all.

Marriage is a Science, say the planners of parenthood, the would-be creators of scientific happiness.

Marriage is psychiatry, they say, gynecology, psychoanalysis. You've got to go to their school to learn how to get married, how to have children, how to stay married.

You've got to register and go to school, they tell you. You've got to study how to get along on your husband's salary.

If you want to be a husband, don't go by your emotions. Don't think you have a right to get married just because you have a good job and love the girl.

Oh, no. It isn't that simple. You've got to be a matrimonial scientist. You've got to study the anatomy and psychology of marriage.

There is a possibility, of course, that you may feel as I do and consider all this enormous nonsense.

So, if you want to take a chance as I did twenty-nine years ago (and it still works), let me give you a few simple rules for successful marriage:

First—Love the girl and be sure she loves you. How can you tell? You'll know. It's the grandest and gloriousest feeling in all the world. It can't possibly be mistaken for anything else.

Second—Have common interests. Either that or your interets must be so different that together they will make an interesting whole.

Third — Respect each other. Treat each other as if you weren't married at all. Don't open each other's mail. Remember that privacy is one of the basic elements of decency.

Fourth—Trust each other. Don't ask "Where have you been?" If in doubt about each other's faithfulness, your marriage is a bust.

Fifth—Don't nag. Compliment each other frequently, but don't let tht compliments be hyprocritical.

Sixth—Be companions. Share

How to Torture Your Wife : : : : : BY H. T. WEBSTER

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—(INS)—Bonnie Cashin, the 20th Century-Fox stylist, claims that any gal can be as glamorous as the movie queens if her best features are revealed as carefully as the worst ones are covered up.

For instance, Bonnie says, if you have a provocative pair of shoulders—undress them. She readily gives examples of what she means.

"Take Linda Darnell," says Bonnie, who has designed wardrobes for who's who in feminine filmland for years. "Aside from Linda's beautiful camera-proof face, Linda has the most perfect shoulders and back of any star I've dressed.

"Sometimes we bare both Linda's shoulders and all of her back. Some of her gowns have a diagonal strap across the back just for variety. And then to break the monotony sometimes we accent first one nude shoulder and then the other."

Time For Everything

Modest in dress, says Miss Cashin, is a matter of time, place and period. There was a time, when it was fashionable to cover every part of the feminine anatomy except that portion currently covered by sweater-girls.

Some races cover what they consider their sexiest points, others glory in revealing them. Chinese women hide their feet; Sumatra women their knees; Mohammedan and Egyptian women revel in having their faces covered.

The petite and pretty stylist went on to point out that Polynesian girls think nothing of baring themselves to the waist and certain Oriental ladies think the hipline is sexy.

Bonnie chose Jean Peters as having hips second to none.

The stylist chose Betty Grable, along with everybody else, as having Hollywood's shapliest legs. Her ideal "plunging neckline girl" is Olivia De Havilland, with Nancy Guild a close second.

Gene Tierney, Bonnie insisted, has the most beautiful and expressive arms and hands in Hollywood and June Haver is the most perfect proportioned actress.

Exquisite Skin

Jeanne Crain is terrific in bare midriffs, the stylist continued, and Anne Baxter has the best elbows. As for Celeste Holm, Miss Cashin says:

"Celeste has such exquisite skin that I try to expose as much of her epidermis as possible."

Bonnie said that she never designed clothes for Maureen O'Hara but that she would place the Irish beauty in Linda Darnell's "beautiful back and shoulder category."

Who is the best covered-up girl? Beautiful blonde Barbara Lawrence, says Miss Cashin.

"Barbara has the lithe, long-lined body that's most seductive covered up, but she has one point which should be framed, properly set off, but never covered—a beautifully-rounded, swan-like throat."

So the tip from Bonnie Cashin, girls, is: "Learn your best uncover points.

One Man Heating Housing Project

NEW YORK—(INS)—One man can control the temperature of 12,272 apartments which house 40,000 persons with the flick of a switch.

This man operates a new centralized heating system from a room no larger than a good-sized closet. The system, now in its first season, is in the Parkchester development in New York's upper Bronx.

The operator stands before a modern instrument panel covered with switches and Honeywell-Brown remote indicating devices. By pressing the switches, he is linked within a matter of seconds to each of 51 apartment houses in the 130-acre development.

Within eight minutes, and by moving only a few steps, he can check the temperatures in each and all of the 51 buildings. In addition he can regulate the temperatures in garages with a 3,500-car capacity. The apartment buildings are from 7 to 13 stories high.

"The panel board and system contains several new ideas in remote control," said Herbert N. Fochs, the chief electrician for the project.

"One of the ideas is the use of standard industrial instruments made by the Brown division of Honeywell. Another new wrinkle is the use of telephone company leased lines for tying the 51 buildings to the central control and indicating board".

Uncensored Nude Food Fair Feature

LONDON.—(INS)—A transparent, life-size figure of a nude woman—and not food—will be the central feature of the British Food Fair at Olympia, London from August 29 to September 9.

It will be used by the Central Council for Health Education to illustrate talks by doctors and dieticians on the proper selection and use of foods.

An exact reproduction of the female body, it shows every organ, blood vessel, bone and nerve and the organs can be illuminated by an internal lighting system to demonstate the talks.

An official of the council, who described the figure as 'quite uncensored," declared:

"If anyone comes along with a dirty mind it is not our fault. There is nothing dirty about the human body.

"The figure is the result of 30 years' research work by German scientists.

'There are only two such figures in existence, and Dr. Robert Sutherland, medical adviser and secretary to the council, went specially to Cologne to negotiate its loan.

"The figure is made of transparent plastic an anonymous German woman acting as model. With it our lecturers will be able to demonstrate to visitors to the Fair exactly how infected foods are harmful to the system, and how correct foods benefit the body."

Bids Received On Polk Construction

First bids for the project were rejected May 17 because they exceeded allocations. The GSA now is considering bids submitted by Seltzer and Young, Inc., of New Castle, $35,500 for general construction, and Northwest Electric Co., of Erie, 02,132 for electrical work.

The French colony was most prosperous, and many mulatto became property owners, political rights being granted them in 1789. The white inhabitants protested and fierce struggles ensued. England and Spain intervened. The subject of this sketch sided with the French, driving out both alien groups. As the most notable soldier and statesman in the island, he became governor for France and commander-in-chief of the armies of St. Domingo. He made himself master of the whole country, renounced French authority and announced himself "the Buonaparte of St. Domingo". The French finally captured him by a ruse, and he died in a French prison April 27, 1803.

Antonio Moreno, stage and screen actor (better known to earlier movie fans) was born in Madrid, Spain. He came to America when he was 14. He began his career in pictures in the old silent days of 1914, playing in Mare Nostrum, Temptress, Midnight Taxi, Air Legion, Romance of the Rio Grande and others. He played in Rose of the Rio Grande in 1938; Fiesta in 1941, Undercover Man in 1942; the next two years in Tampico, and his latest pictures were The Spanish Main and Captain From Castile. He has recently been playing on English stage.

Plan Restoration Of Peace Memorial At Gettysburg

HARRISBURG, June 8.—(INS)—The Eternal Light peace memorial at Gettysburg National Park today is in line for complete restoration.

State Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters said reports from U. S. Sen. Francis J. Myers and Cong. James F. Lind of York that $43,200 has been allocated for permanent repairs soon after July 1.

The VFW had complained that "continual disintegration" of the monument's sides and walls was making it "a disgrace to our national pride and honor".

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

On the way to Mexico City, an American tourist's car broke down, and he spent the night in the local mechanic's flat above the garage. For dinner the main dish was pronounced "rabbit," but to the American the taste was neither familiar nor agreeable. "Just where did you get this rabbit, Manuelo?" he asked. "My wife got him," said Manuelo. "Every night he came sneaking round house, making big noise, and my wife shot him."

"Noise?" said the American. "I never herad of a rabbit making any noise." "This one did," declared Manuelo emphatically.

"Always went 'meow, meow'."

Cecil De Mill's Samson and Delilah may prove to be the biggest financial success of his fabulous career. (They say its theme song is I'm Gonna Wash That Hair Right Out of My Man.) De Mille's brother William's comment was, "The thing I've always admired most about Cecil is his abiltiy to bite off more than he can chew—and then chew it."

Rescued Plane Passengers Will Continue Journey

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 8.—(INS)—The Puerto Rican labor department made plans today to complete the trip to Michigan for migratory workers whose journey was interrupted Monday when a Westair Airliner was "ditched" in the south Atlantic.

Officials at the naval base in Charleston, where 36 surviving Puerto Rican laborers and plane crewmen arrived yesterday, said that Labor Minister Fernando Sierra is arranging transportation for the remainder of the trip.

A public information officer said that an "unofficial" report places the number of Puerto Ricans who wish to continue the trip at 20. He said the other 13 workers will presumably return to their homes. Three of the rescued were crewmen on the airliner.

Thirty-seven crash survivors were saved from the ocean by the U. S. destroyer Saufley, but one died minutes after a shark almost several his arm from his shoulder.

Pilot Joseph Halsey said he was surprised that 19 of the passengers are still missing after the Monday crash.

He explained that the unscheduled airliner carried 65 Mae West life belts, six 10-man life rafts and one seven-man raft.

The world's largest fleet of trucks is comprised of 30,000 that keep U.S. telephone lines in order.

Sees Gloomy Year For State Farmers

LANCASTER, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—The garden spot of America's homegrown weather expert predicts dire prospects for Pennsylvania farmers this summer.

Lancaster's William B. "Whitey" Sharpe, who forecasts long range weather by the seat of his pants, gloomed, "This year—1950 A. D.—can very well turn out to be another 1909".

Oldtime farmers, especially tobacco growers, still shudder when they hear the summer of 1909 mentioned. That year temperatures were low and hardly any rain fell.

Lancaster county which boasts consistent high grade tobacco harvests, nurtured a dud crop that year.

Sharpe, who doubles as a baker at the county institution, guides his predictions by the dog star.

"And half the time I can't find that doggoned star."

"It's all the fault of those smart guys in New York," he declared angrily. "Them rain makers sure upset everything. They sure ferhexed the works."

Whitey used some cracker barrel philosophy to put his finger on the root of the weather problem.

"We're gettin' too smart and all that happens is trouble."

Senate Committee Approves Bill For Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The senate armed services committee today approved a bill to extend the present draft law for three years.

The measure does not require the president to consult with congress before ordering inductions as provided in the house-passed bill.

The present selective service law expires June 24.

The house bill would extend the selective service law for two years and require congress to declare a state of emergency before the president could order inductions.

Included in the senate measure is an amendment by Sen. Russell (D) Ga., which gives each inducted individual the right to "express his preference" on whether he desires to serve in a unit with members of his own race.

Butter, Cheese To Be Distributed

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The agriculture department today made a "limited amount" of its surplus stocks of butter and cheese available for free distribution to needy persons overseas.

Officials said the department is making butter and cheese available for donation to private welfare agencies for distribution outside of the U. S. because domestic welfare agencies "have requested only moderate quantities" in the "give away" program.

The department at present has 137 million pounds of butter—enough to supply U. S. needs for one month—and 43 and one-half million pounds of cheese stored away under the government's price support buying program.

The government already has donated six and one-half million pounds of butter and slightly more than three million pounds of cheese to domestic welfare agencies, the Indians and the national school lunch program.

Dr. Davis thanked the committees for their cooperation and then introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Dr. Paul H. Wilson.

Dr. William Lytle, of McDonald, Pa., as the principal speaker of the evening, entertained the group for over half an hour with a humorous talk, including impersonations, dramatic skits and jokes.

In appreciation for his fine performance of the evening, organist David Jones was presented with a gift in behalf of the Lawrence County Medical society. He responded with thanks.

Special guests attending were introduced: Mary B. Miller, administrator of the Ellwood City hospital; Joseph F. Freidheim, director of the Jameson Memorial hospital; Denny Schill, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce; Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Meehan, and Charles Flannery.

REMARRIAGE OF DIVORCEE

Question: Kindly tell me (1) How a divorcee whose parents are living should word a wedding announcement? (2) How should guests be invited to a wedding supper? (3) What kind of clothes should a bride wear for a small wedding at about 5 o'clock in the afternoon?

Answer: (1) The form should be as usual, except that the daughter's full name should be included thus: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown have the honour to announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Brown Jones.

(2) Assuming that you will send out formal engraved invitations, I suggest a separate "reception card" if only certain guests are invited to the reception.

(3) Either travelling clothes (if your wedding will be informal and you will not have time to change) or a long afternoon dress, either of which will require a hat.

Question: Is it proper to send a wedding gift to a bride and groom who are marrying each other for the second time?

Answer: If you gave them a wedding present when they were first married, that will suffice, technically. But it woutld be weill for you to repeat your giving if you can afford to do so, provided you are invited to the wedding. If you gave them nothing the first time and have since become an intimate friend, you may then send them a gift, although there is no obligation on your part to do so, unless, as I said, you are invited to the wedding reception as well as the church ceremony.

Question: If a bride wears a face veil, when should it be lifted?

Answer: At the end of the ceremony, just before the recessional begins, the maid-of-honor should lift the bride's face veil.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Court House

Involved Case Ended By Order

Gas Station Case Is Adjudicated

After many months of litigation, the case of John F. Maietta, Charles J. Maietta and Michael Schnitzki against John W. and Helen Carpenter is ended insofar as the Lawrence county courts go.

The case is one in which the defendants sold the plaintiffs a gas station in the Ellwood City district in July 1946. The plaintiffs claim they were told they were purchasing all the equipment in the station, and in addition would get a one cent per gallon royalty from the Sinclair Oil Company which would go far to liquidate the $250 monthly rent they agreed to pay.

In September 1946 the plaintiffs entered suit in equity for damages on the grounds they had been deceived in the matter of the equipment and the royalties. They claimed the Sinclair company owned much of the equipment and that the one cent royalty paid was first paid to the Sinclair company. They asked for a rescission of the contract.

Finally a suit was filed in the Court of Common Pleas and verdict of $7116.95 returned for the Maiettas. This was divided $3000 for equipment and $4116.95 for royalties.

It was this verdict the Carpenters appealed and the case came on for argument before Judge W. Walter Braham. The opinion is a lengthy one and goes into the detail of the testimony with many cases cited as precedents.

The opinion is a split victory in that both sides get a piece. Judge Braham overruled the motion for judgment NOV (judgment notwithstanding the verdict) in the matter of the $3000 for equipment. This he rules the Carpenters must pay.

In the $4116.95 claimed for royalties he upholds the Carpenters and this amount they will not have to pay. The court's reasoning is that the Maiettas could have found out for themselves what the terms of the contract with the Sinclair company were and that it is not the business of the courts to protect persons against bad investments.

The Maiettas may still appeal the case to the upper courts if they so desire. But so far as Lawrence county is concerned the case seems to be at an end.

TWO OTHER OPINIONS

Judge John G. Lamoree has handed down two opinions in cases that have been before him for adjudication. In the case of Victor Pandolf versus the Seneca Oil company and the Eureka Casualty company Judge Lamoree upholds the findings of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Mr. Pandolf was an employe of the coal company and had his foot injured, one toe being amputated. The Workmen's Compensation Board awarded him $20 per week from March 6, 1947 to July 1, 1947, with an allowance of $240.90 for medical and hospital services. This award the court upholds.

In the case of Harry C. Smith and Nevada H. Smith versus the Lowellville Savings and Banking company and Ada E. and Comus R. Manewal, Judge Lamoree overrules preliminary objections and orders judgment entered against the Manewals. He also suggests that the interest of the savings bank can be cleared by a hearing.

This is a case where the Smiths sold a piece of property to the Manewals in October, 1946, for $25,000 upon an article of agreement. In July 1949 the Manewals were in default and the Smiths took over the property, there being $22,263 due. To this the Manewals agreed.

In the meantime the bank entered a claim and named the Smiths as terre tenants. This step was taken properly Judge Lamoree holds.

The bank claims the Manewlas had an equity in the property and to protect the bank's interest in a loan filed. This, Judge Lamoree holds, can be cleared by a hearing.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING

John B. Shaw, chairman of the Democrat county committee has called a meeting of the committee for Saturday afternoon, June 17, at 2 o'clock in the court house.

A chairman is to be elected along with other officers and the indications are a fight is in sight. Mr. Shaw will be a candidate for re-election and the CIO-PAC forces headed by State Senator Samuel G. Neff are said to be grooming a candidate.

ELECTION EXPENSES

Candidates who ran in the primary elections of May 16 are beginning to file their expenses in the office of the Board of Elections.

Attorney Robert M. White, 2nd, successful candidate for the Republican nomination for General Assembly, first district, files an account of $277.58.

Joseph R. Hensley, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for General Assembly, first district, spent less than $150 and files no detailed account.

T. W. Navarra, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for General Assembly, second district, spent $412.20.

All candidates who ran in the primary, save those for county committee, must file expense accounts before June 16. If they spent less than $150, no detailed account is necessary. If they spent over that they must show receipts.

Mrs. H. Hamman At Medical Society

Urging cooperation with local health agencies, Mrs. Howard H. Hamman of Greensburg, president-elect of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical society of the state of Pennsylvania, spoke at a luncheon meeting of the 10th Councilor District at the Schenley hotel, Pittsburgh, today.

She discussed many phases of auxiliary work, emphasizing a continuing program of community health education. Mrs. Hamman asked auxiliary leaders to become active in the clubs, churches and civic organizations to which they belong.

U.S. Building Boom At New High In May

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The U. S. building boom hit a new high in May with one billion, 900 million dollars worth of new construction put in place during the month.

A joint report by the bureau of labor statistics and the department of commerce, said today that last month's construction volume was 14 per cent higher than April and 23 per cent above the May, 1949, figure.

The total included one billion 400 million dollars worth of private construction and 531 million dollars in public expenditures.

Home Building Leads

Home building led the May construction parade with expenditures of 825 million dollars for residences, a 56 per cent gain over a year ago. High construction also rose substantially last month as did practically all other types of building.

The two agencies reported that new construction of all types totaled nearly eight billion 100 million dollars during the first five months of 1950. This was 21 per cent more than the total for the corresponding period last year.

The five-month volume included six billion dollars worth of private construction and public building outlays of two billion. The latter was devoted to public housing, schools, hospitals and highways.

The Great Smoky mountains of North Carolina, with 200,000 acres still in virgin timber, contain the most extensive stands of virgin red spruce and hardwood forests in America.

Bessemer Plans July 4 Party

Eagle To Scream At Old-Time Fete

For an old-fashioned eagle screaming Fourth of July celebration you'll have to go to Bessemer this year.

The folks out in this lively boro have planned an old time celebration for the Fourth that will bring back memories of long whiskered orators, community picnics in the grove and fireworks that light the sky like the Aurora Borealis.

Plenty Of Action

In order to get the folks loosened up for the Fourth a community dance will be held on the night of the third. There will be a midway with the usual "roll-a-bowl-a-ball" concessions, cigars if you knock down the dummy and a lot of rides.

Fourth of July morning the folks will have to get over the night before but at 2 o'clock the boro goes back into the celebration at an even dizzier pace.

Parade Feature

At 2 o'clock there will be a parade featuring fire equipment from many communities, military units, service and fraternal organizations and, of course, bands.

Judge John G. Lamoree will be the speaker of the afternoon and will deliver a patriotic address.

At 3 o'clock there will be a sports program and by the time that is finished the folks will be ready to eat.

Band Concert, Fireworks

At 7:30 there will be a band concert, at 9 o'clock a dance, and at 11 o'clock a grand display of fireworks. The entire celebration will be held at the Bessemer high school grounds, sponsored and supervised by the Bessemer July Fourth committee. All net proceeds will go to the Community Playground fund.

Heading the committees steering the plans for the celebration are B. O. Nord as chairman and Carl D. Montgomery as co-chairman with Frank Galletta as the secretary.

Joseph Percic is chairman of the concessions, Harold Heard of the advertising, Joseph Martin and William Pelto are parade marshals, Carmen Perrone is fireworks chairman, Robert Glaspey for sports, and T. W. Navarra and William Chaney, finances.

In rural areas in the U. S. in 1949 there was an increase in crime of 8.5 per cent and a 4.2 increase in urban communities.

THOSE SWISS LOCOMOTIVES KNOW HOW TO CLIMB

THE FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE (left) wasn't satisfied with just colliding with the passenger train locomotive at Maroggia, Switzerland, but had to climb right up on top of it. The passenger train was pushed 350 feet, its engineer killed, and traffic between Switzerland and Italy was tied up for 20 hours. (International)

Portersville Rally Special Features

An especially interesting program has been arranged for the Portersville Youth for Christ rally this Saturday evening, "George and Bill" the Gospel "Minute Men" will present a program in music, word and illustration. George Yaple is a Gospel magician and missionary-elect to Africa. He gives startling illustrations of Biblical truths and Gospel hymns, using the felt board. He also plays the marimba, mandolin, violin and piano.

The second member of the party, Bill Baum, who was born and educated in Germany, came to America after Hitler's rise to power. He was a former professional news and publicity photographer. The service will be conducted in the Portersville U.P. church at 8 p. m.

Father Dies On Day That Son Is Born

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—Mingled joy and sorrow was the lot today of a young Pittsburgh mother who gave birth to a son the same day her husband died.

The baby was born to Mrs. Betty Mae Janzer in St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday. Her husband, John, 22, an employe of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, was taken to the hospital the same day suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

He died without regaining consciousness.

Doctors urge removing rubbers and galoshes indoors because leather soles on shoes cannot ventilate feet properly if hampered by impermeable foot coverings.

Dr. Howard Wiley Resigns Position

Dr. Howard G. Wiley, executive secretary of the Federation of Churches, Minneapolis, Minn., since 1942, has resigned, according to a message received by local relatives. His resignation, which is to take effective July 1, was accepted by the federation board "with regrets."

Dr. Wiley, a former resident of North Beaver township, will be remembered as the elder son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wiley.

Dr. Wiley feels the need of a good rest and a change.

Under his leadership, the number of churches cooperating in the federation's work has grown to nearly 200, nearly double the number when he went to Minneapolis. The federation's budget has increased from $16,500 to $53,000.

While in Minneapolis, he has taken an active interest in community affairs, serving on various committees.

Before going to Minneapolis, Dr. Wiley was associate pastor of First Presbyterian church, Tulsa, Okla., for 20 years. Prior to that time, he served in the same capacity at Grove City Presbyterian church. Dr. Wiley is a graduate of Grove City college.

Sheep and goats increased steadily in Texas for 40 years but have dropped the past few years.

Telephone Operator Will Receive Award For Her Heroism

BEDFORD, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—Pretty, 22-year-old Mrs. Helen Turner, a Hyndman, Pa., telephone operator, today will receive the highest award of the nation's telephone industry for heroism.

Mrs. Turner was the operator on duty last Christmas day when a fire destroyed the entire business district of Hyndman.

She refused to leave her post at the switchboard even when flames licked within 50 feet of her home in which the town's telephone office is located.

Heedless of personal danger, she stayed at her post for 22 hours summoning fire departments, ambulances and physicians and relaying orders for the fire fighters.

She will be awarded the silver medal of the Theodore N. Vail award for heroism at a ceremony in Bedford. She also will receive $500.

Civilian Defense Plans For State Are Being Prepared

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, June 8.—Col. Louis F. Acker, executive of the state civil defense committee, said Pennslyvania will have a civilian defense system ready sooner than the government's two-year deadline for a nationwide program.

"I'm surprised that they figure it will take that long," Colonel Acker said. "We hope to have something long before that time.

"Of course we're handicapped right now because the legislature isn't in session to allocate the funds necessary to aid a defense program. But we're going right ahead coordinating all departments of the state to be prepared to handle any emergency."

Acker said the federal government is devising a standard operating procedure for cities. Plans are being formulated for Pennsylvania and they will probably borrow some of the ideas from the federal government system if needed, he reported.

Defense Coordinators

The state civilian defense committee, headed by Judge Vincent A. Carroll of Philadelphia, has asked the president judges of all the counties to act as defense coordinators in their counties. The superintnedents of schools a-e alternatives.

Sheriffs and chairman of the board of county commissioners also are included in top command of county defense.

Acker said defense-minded leaders will meet in Harrisburg late this month to develop plans at the local level.

Acker also announced completion of the air raid warning and alert system for the state.

Fifteen state police headquarters throughout the commonwealth will serve as air raid warning centers in case of attack by enemy planes.

They are located at Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Bethlehem, Erie, Butler, Wyoming, Reading, Lancaster, Washington, Montoursville, Greensburg, Blakely, Punxsutawney and Hollidaysburg.

The centers will control regions covering from one to nine counties.

Warning of approaching unfriendly aircraft will be flashed from the police barracks by teletype and telephone to smaller state police units and county seats.

The alerts will stem from the air force civilian air raid control office at Mitchell Feild, L. I. For the past several weeks the state defense committee and air force personnel have been studying the speed with which air raid alert and all clear messages can be transmitted.

Flashing lights and a buzzer will sound the alert in the warning centers and the danger from the approaching planes will be conveyed by a code of different colored lights.

Advance Tips To Hay Fever Sufferers

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—Hay fever sufferers, listen!

Start taking injections early to reduce the severity of the attack.

That is the advice of the Allegheny County Medcial Society, which advises that injections do the most good if taken two to three months before the hay fever season begins.

Here are some additional tips:

1. Avoid drafts and winds that whip up a dust.
2. When its hot, dry and windy, stay indoors.
3. Close bedroom windows during the day, open them at the top during the night, or if windows are open keep a wet sheet or towel in front of them.
4. Avoid riding in the open country in an open automobile, or wear goggles.
5. Try to drink plenty of water.

Injections tend to disensitize the allergy which plagues hay fever sufferers, and if taken over a period of years, treatment may be stopped entirely.

Many hay fever patients try to ignore their condition and fail to take any treatment. The Medical Society warned that such persons often end up with asthma later in life.

The American Radio Relay league, organization of amateur radio station operators and owners, was founded in 1914 by the late Hiram Percy Maxim.

Teacher Hurt In Oven Explosion

LAWRENCE, Mass., June 8.—(INS)—Teaching domestic science sometimes can be a dangerous occupation.

Miss Mary Callahan was demonstrating the workings of a baking oven to her domestic science class at Lawrence high school yesterday when the oven exploded.

The teacher, who was knocked unconscious and had her hair singed, duly impressed her 15 girl students that there is danger in teaching.

Stassen Warns On Concentrated Power For Government Men

CHICAGO, June 8—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen has warned the nation it must avoid placing great centralized power in the hands of the men who conduct the government.

The University of Pennsylvania president spoke in Chicago before the 51st annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, listed seven "pillars" as essential to freedom and warned that they are under attack. These include ownership and management of basic industries, specifically steel, oil and chemicals, by private interests and not the government.

He declared:

"The freedom of man to buy and sell, to work and profit, produce build, invest and manufacture, to mine and distribute, to save and spend, cannot permanently be divided from his other freedoms."

Burial robes of Roman emperors 2,000 years ago were made of asbestos.

Saxons Liked Steaks, Too

LONDON. — (INS) — Roast-beef loving Englishmen wistfully discovered that their Saxon ancestors (pre-austerity) were also great trenchermen.

Archaeologists digging on a blitzed site at Kingsland in the heart of Southampton are reconstructing the life of Saxon times, and bones from the kitchen refuse of a Saxon town show that the diet of those times was mainly a meat one.

Norman Cook, curator of Southampton's Tudor House Museum, said: "Beef, mutton, goat, and even horse bones have been found but only one fishbone. Nevertheless, Saxons were fond of shellfish. Masses of oysters and mussel shells have been found.

"The meat bones still bear the traces of the butchers saw and cleaver."

Exports from Japan in 1949 were valued at $510,969,139 as compared with $258,271,491 in 1948 while the value of imports totaled $901,677,130 in 1949 as against $682,612,645 in 1948.

Some 2200 Fail To Report For Work

PHILADELPHIA, June 8—(INS)—Some 2200 production and maintenance employes at the Electric Storage Battery Co. failed to report for work today after an all-night negotiating session failed to settle their contract-pension dispute.

The employes, members of the CIO-IUE, had originally scheduled a strike for June 1, when the old contract expired but had twice postponed it pending further talks.

Kiwanis Hears Rev. Gaiser

Members Of Club Are Also Luncheon Guests

New Castle Kiwanis Club members were guests of Rev. James A. Gaiser, pastor of the First Methodist church, at their weekly luncheon meeting, Wednesday noon, in the first of a series of meetings, designed to explain the basic principles of the three great religions, Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish.

Following a delicious lunch served by the women of the church, the group went to the sanctuary, where Rev. Gaiser stated that he would attempt to explain the meaning of the objects in the church, and the various points on which the Protestant religion is founded.

Once One Christian Religion

Before Martin Luther, there was but one Christian religion, he stated, which had its center in Rome. Martin Luther broke with the Catholic leaders. Protestantism might have died out had it not been for John Calvin, who founded the Calvinists, and who was evangelistic.

John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church, died not knowing that he had founded a denomination, as he had been merely seeking to reform the Episcopal church, because he did not believe the Episcopal liturgy brought the common man close enough to the church, and God.

Rev. Gaiser then went onto to explain the various things found in and about the front of a Protestant church. On the pulpit, he explained, is always found the open bible, symbolizing the freedom of the people to open and read the scriptures. The minister occupies the center of the pulpit, but he is merely the medium through which the service is carried out.

There is no altar in the front of the church, but instead there is the communion table. In the Methodist church, the worshippers come to the communion railing. The communion table is the most secred object in the Protestant church, he explained, and only a few things are permitted to be placed upon it. These include the open bible, candlesticks, and the offering after it has been received. Some newer churches have a divided sanctuary, he stated.

Five Parts To Service

The Protestant service is in general divided into five parts.

First of these is vision. As one comes into church, soft organ music is generally played to permit the worshippers to get into communion with God. Many people come to church, but never really worship, he stated.

Next is the period devoted to humility, this being accomplished through prayer.

Next is a period of exaltation, which may include an anthem by the choir, or a hymn expressing exaltation. The offering is generally received at this time, and is not merely a contribution to the upkeep of the church, but one's way of giving to the Lord.

Next is the period of illumination. This is accomplished through the reading of the scriptures, and a sermon on the word of God.

Next follows the period of consecration. This is generally accomplished through a hymn of consecration, giving one an opportunity to put himself into relationship with God.

But Two Sacrements

The only sacrements offered by the Protestant church are those of baptist and communion, he stated. In closing, he stated that the strength of Protestantism is also its weakness, as it gives anyone who does not agree wtih all its tenets the right to step out and form a new branch, which has resulted in something like 500 branches which claim adherence to the Protestant form of worship.

The next meeting of this nature will take place on October 25, when the club will be the guest of Kiwanian Dr. Iwan J. Gruen, of Temple Israel.

President A. H. Mellor announced the resignation of second vice president H. M. "Red" Philpott, who has taken a position with a Youngstown firm of architects. Dave Gatrell was elected to fill the vacancy.

It was announced that the club had been invited to a joint meeting with New Castle Rotary Club on Monday, July 17, when Dr. Robert A. Galbreath will be the speaker.

A letter was received from the Kiwanis Club of St. James, Canada, telling of the sad plight of this city, which was inundated by flood, rendering 150,000 persons homeless. Any contribution made for the aid of these people would be most acceptable, the letter stated, and members will be given an opportunity to contribute to a fund at the meeting next week.

Dr. Jennings B. Reid, of the Highland U. P. church introduced the speaker of the day.

RELIEF ROLL DECLINE

HARRISBURG. — Pennsylvania's public assistance rolls registered their fourth consecutive semi-monthly decline during the first half of May. The number of General Assistance recipients declined by 3,549 an Aid to Dependent Children recipients by 1,317. The number of persons receiving Old-Age Assistance increased by 50. In total, the net decrease amounted to 4,816 persons.

Collects Cars For His Hobby

BILLINGS, Mont. — (INS)— Don Foote of Billings, has a "stable" filled with carriages—horseless, that is.

Collector Foote has such an interest in early makes of American automobiles that he is unable to restrain himself from tracking rare models down, putting them in tip-top shape and then boarding them in his backyard.

His runable cars include a 1901 Oldsmobile, 1904 Maxwell, 1910 Ford, 1912 Apperson and even one of the famous Stanley Steamers.

In all, Foote has footed the bill for repairing and maintaining no less than 16 antique vehicles.

The old-car hobby, he claimed, is on the upswing, with car manufacturers wanting certain models, museums seeking the old timers and collections being started by dozens of persons throughout the country. Some tire manufacturers, he said, are making early-type tires which a few years ago were unobtainable.

Yes, there's money in collecting the rattletraps, too.

Foote has one car he values at more than $10,000.

The college will offer 75 courses and special workshops in education and speech during the two sessions which extend through August 30.

108 IN FAMILY

MMONROEVILLE, Ala. — Mrs. M. M. Kilpatrick, Monroeville, may be the head of one of the south's largest families. Mrs. Kilpatrick, 84, has 11 living children, 43 grandchildren and 54 great-grandchildren.

Special Diet Allowances For Relief Recipients

HARRISBURG, June 8.—(INS)—Special diet allowances for relief recipients today were ordered reinstated by the State Relief Board.

The allowances were discontinued in March by the Public Assistance Department when food and clothing allotments were shaved $2 a month because of a reported cost of living decrease and an overwhelming drain on relief funds.

The special diet allowances apply to persons suffering from tuberculosis, anemia, ulcers, diabetes and gall bladder diseases, the board said.

They were ordered restored after study of Budget Secretary Edward B. Logan's fiscal report reflecting income of within one-tenth of one percent of estimates for the first year of the 1949-51 biennium.

Extra food can be secured at a cost somewhat lower than former allowances, the board said.

County Boards of Assistance were notified by the Department of Public Assistance that doctors' prescribed treatment will be the guide toward granting the allowances.

Because it is in error by 26 seconds a year, the Gregorian calendar, started in 1582, will be one day off the true astronomical year in 4900 A. D.

POTATO FIELD DAY

HARRISBURG. — The annual field day sponsored by the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers' Association will be held next August 16 and 17 at Camp Potato, near Coudersport, Potter County, according to information received by the State Department of Agriculture. Several thousand potato growers and members of their families are expected to attend.

New York Water Supply Better

NEW YORK, June 8—(INS)—Some morbid statistician in the City Water Department has just discovered that New Yorkers in the past six months have saved sufficient aqua pura to cover Manhattan Island to a depth of twelve feet.

Somehow, I find this a very disconcerting statistic although it will enable me after June 15 to stop brusing my teeth with Old Grandpop (90 proof).

Testimonial To Patience

I suppose it is a fine testimonial to the patience and fortitude of New Yorkers that, faced with a water crisis, we have saved 55,000,000,000 gallons of the stuff or sufficient to turn Manhattan into a lake deep enough to drown the Cardiff giant.

As one who stands five feet seven inches in spike heels and can't swim a lick, the prospect of that much water lapping over Manhattan is no more congenial than the thought of an atom bomb over the Empire State building.

During the past 18 months, I have devoted all my spare time to tunnelling out a nuclear shelter, but it never occurred to me until now that I would have to add a canoe to my equipment.

However, we New Yorkers have been so noble in the conservation of water, substituting eau de cologne for baths and whiskey-on-the-rocks for highballs, that the water crisis, which loomed so ominously last December 12, is largely past. The storage system is now more than nine-tenths filled, or almost triple the December low.

Swimming Pools To Reopen

As of June 15, Stephen J. Carney, commissioner of Water Supply, has announced that we can leave the coal out of the bath tubs and the rocks out of the glasses. On that date, swimming pools may reopen, providing they have recirculating water systems and do not require the addition of more than 5 percent of fresh water each and every day.

The same is true of air conditioning systems, as long as they are recirculating and only require 5 percent additional water per diem. And a man with a speck of lawn or garden can turn the hose on for three hours daily, between 8 and 11 p.m.

This honeymoon will last for 30 days, or until the water department determines if there will be sufficient water to continue such a program throughout the summer.

But it is still no dice as far as washing cars is concerned. The old heap will have to continue to accumulate dust unless its owner can find a garage with a well of its own.

If the city slickers continue to conserve water sensibly and if the reservoirs hold their own, the city fathers hope by mid-July there will be a normal balance of water in the storage system.

Normally, there is about a 44 inch rainfall in this area during the summer months. In winter, an inch of rain fall means a run-off of 12 billion gallons of water. But in summer, when there is so much thirsty vegetation, the run-off of an inch of rain is only two billion gallons.

All Time Low

Last December, when the storage system sank to an all time low of 33.4 percent, there was some apprehension that New York would turn into a dust bowl and blow away. The city hired itself a rain maker, Dr. Wallace E. Howell of Harvard.

The good Doc has been out ever since March, prodding anything that looked like a willing rain cloud. Angry resort owners and townships in the New York watershed have blamed every rain drop on his evil machinations. Two suits have been filed against the city in an attempt to stop the Doc's incantations.

But the truth is, friends, and don't tell a soul, that the rain fall, since the Doc began operations, has been below normal or average in this district'

Both the city fathers and the Doc refused to be too red-faced about the matter. Mr. Carney says no one can estimate just what effect the rain-making attempts have had on the weather or just how much water they have produced until results are tabulated at the end of a six to 12-month period.

It is just possible that without the ministrations of Ol' Doc Howell, Manhattan would now be blowing either out to sea or high over Kansas and points west.

BIGGEST STILL RAIDED

RICHMOND, Va. — Virginia "revenooers" made the biggest raid in the 16-year history of the state alcoholic beverage control board. The still contained 16,250 gallons of "working mash" which would have yielded 1000 gallons of whiskey. The still had a capacity of 3000 gallons a day.

Co-Eds Are Polled On Dress Fashions

ST. LOUIS.—(INS)—Skirts will remain at mid-calf length—twelve to thirteen inches from the ground—if midwestern college girls have their way.

The St. Louis fashion creaters learned the preference of the co-eds in a poll taken to guide the vast St. Louis Junior Miss dress industry in preparation of its fall line.

While the college girls veto the shorter skirt idea for street wear, at least half of them cast votes in favor of the new short length formal which can be used also for many party dates.

The survey to determine fashions accepted by the girls also showed:

All-out approval for separates, the mix and match variety or the skirt and blouse combination which looks like a dress and will double as such.

Objection to dark cottons for classroom wear.

Enthusiasm for costumes that do double-duty. This includes the low-cut jacket for campus wear and the dresses with convertible necklines.

Approval of tailored suits for year-round wear and the straight box coat, without half-belt, to wear over it.

Desire to see more slim skirts in both suits and dresses and more navy blue and plaid fabrics.

LAZY MAN'S GARDEN

Imagine a garden producing gorgeous flowers which requires no more care than just keeping the water level reasonably constant. And that is about all the care required by a lily pond after it once has been set up. As for its finny denizens, their demands are met by an occasional feeding of bread crust or fish food.

A backyard fish or lily pond may range in size from a wash tub to one limited only by the size of your yard. Many enthusiasts sink a galvanized wash tub with its single hardy lily planted in a five-inch layer of rich garden soil topped by one-inch of sand. This setup will accommodate three or four small goldfish. Rock plants or low annuals may be planted around its edge.

Larger pools may be formal or irregular, the latter usually getting the nod. For an ordinary city backyard a pool five or six feet wide and one or two feet longer with a depth of about thirty inches is about right. The excavation should have sides sloping about 45 degrees so that ice may not be able to exert direct pressure as it would if the sides were perpendicular.

Four-inch thick concrete walls and a three-inch floor will withstand winters. Reinforce with chicken wire when the concrete is laid, the wire being adjusted so as to be in the middle of the concrete layer. Tamp the concrete well so as to fill all irregularities. After setting overnight waterproof by painting with a thin mixture of pure cement.

A frog's eye view of a backyard pool. This one is only 5x5 feet.

Neither an outlet or inlet is required.

Fill with water as soon as feasible, say, twenty-four hours after laying so that the concrete may finish curing underwater. Also, the water will absorb excess lime.

After three or four days the water may be siphoned out and the pool prepared for planting. Pine boxes a foot square and eight inches deep are suitable for holding lilies. Three or four lily plants are enough for a 5x5 pool. In planting use a mixture of good garden soil and well-rotted cow manure, and cover with an inch of sand. Do not cover crowns of the plants. Spaces between boxes may be filled in with sand .Try to pick out a cloudy day for setting out lilies so as to reduce chances of drying out plants.

Reliable varieties of hardy lilies are Chromotella, Gladstone and Gloriosa; yellow, white, and red in the order named. They will bloom amazingly after they are once set. The writer still has offspring from the original three purchased nearly twenty years ago. Plants may be divided and replanted every two or three years. This is necessary in order to prevent their taking over the pond completely.

Goldfish may be added any time after the lilies have been planted and the pool filled. A dozen or so three or four inch fish will do nicely in a 5x5 pool although many more may be accommodated.

There is a certain fascination about a pool with its exotic blooms and highly colored fish. It is safe to say that one derives more satisfaction and enjoyment from a backyard pool than from any other feature in the garden. There is no necessity for using sprays and fertilizers, and one is spared the back breaking task of hoeing. Furthermore, there is no trick entailed in spawning the goldfish. However, more about the latter at another time.

Starts To Pedal Way Across United States

NEWARK, N. J., June 8.—(INS)—A 67-year-old man started out from Newark under a broiling sun Wednesday—determined to break the nation's cross-country bicycling record.

Joseph J. Mariniello, a retired insurance company worker, said he expects to reach Los Angeles on his bicycle in 17 days.

The unofficial cross-country record was set last September by Eugene McPherson, Ohio State University student, who made the trip in 20 days, four hours and 29 minutes.

Something New Added For June Brides Of 1950

Something new has been added.

The June bride at the turn of the century had to remember to send her "thank-you" notes, to remember to sign her new surname, and have good substantial meals ready on time, and never to scrub her husband's pipes.

"But, today's bride," said Myron Milbouer, manager of the New Castle field office of the Social Security Administration, "has all this to remember plus an important business item—Remembering to change her name on her Social Security Card."

'If a girl marries and continues to work, it is important that she visit the Social Security field office and ask to have her name changed on her social security account; next, she should show her corrected social security card to her employer, so that when he sends in his tax return reporting her wages, the information will agree with that shown on our records.

An application to change her name on the social security card may be obtained by visiting or writing to the Social Security Administration, located at 500 Frew Building, 10 West Washington street.

Jail On Wheels Here June 12, 13

A $15,000 "jail on wheels," currently on a nationwide crime crusade, will be in New Castle, June 12 and 13 on East Washington street.

A completely motorized unit, the six-wheel vehicle contains displays for tracing, capturing and quesof the newest in police equipment tioning of felons, and a genuine electric chair.

It was designed by former Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven, Conn. The sheriff has secured crime-fighting apparatus that was made available with the approval of the FBI and state police laboratories.

The outstanding feature is the genuine electric chair, an exact duplicate of the one used at Connecticut state prison.

The former sheriff has a twofold purpose in the tour.

He wants to keep the young from committing their first felony and to fight crime. Secondly, he is the founder of Boys' Village in Millford, Conn. This is a non-profit home that provides recreation and training for boys.

There is no admission fee to see the trailer but donations are accepted and proceeds from the tour are used to support the home.

Raises Rabbits To Aid In Research On Tuberculosis

PHILADELPHIA, June 8—(INS)—Dr. Max Lurie, together with 400 white rabbits, is fighting his own war against tuberculosis.

By raising the fluffy little creatures in the laboratories at the Henry Phipps Institute dispensaries in Philadelphia, Dr. Lurie hopes to find the nature of resistance to TB.

Having devoted 18 years to his rabbit-raising-research, he already has proved that humans can be protected from 95 percent of airborne germs if a proper gauze mask is worn.

He proved this by subjecting rabbits to air-borne tubercle bacilli.

Golf Course Ends Water Shortage

TUCKERS TOWN, Bermuda.—(INS)—Golf courses in the United States affected by a shortage of water can take a lesson from the Mid-Ocean Club which solved a water shortage twenty years ago.

When the course was built in 1925, designer Charles B. MacDonald had to lick a headache which affects all of Bermuda—no natural source of fresh water except rainfall.

MacDonald summoned a New York engineering firm to Bermuda to help design the course in such a way that fullest advantage could be derived from rainfall.

Fairways were set in shallow valleys, and over the sloping hillsides on either side, concrete was spread to a depth of six inches. Soil and turf were laid, and sluice-channels were cut to divert runoff water into five huge storage tanks that were to be built.

While digging for the tanks, however, a piece of luck was encountered. The contractor broke into a large cave whose existence had not been known before. When hollowed out and cemented, it formed a perfect basin with a capacity of 1,250,000 gallons.

The irrigation system has been in use ever since and has maintained the course as one of the world's best.

INHERITANCE

MEXICO CITY—(I N S)—Mexico's Supreme Court has handed down a decision establishing the inheritance rights of a common law wife who has lived with a married man. The legal action came before the court in an appeal by a common law wife demanding that six thousand pesos be awarded to her as the sole beneficiary of a life insurance policy. Her common-law husband had been killed in an accident. The favorable decision was based on a law which gives dependents the right to inheritance. In this case it was proved that the dead man had been seperated from his legal wife for more than 15 years and that she had not been dependent upon during that period of time. He had lived with his common law wife for more than ten years.

Bill To Liberalize Displaced Persons Law At White House

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The senate of Tuesday approved and sent to the White House a bill to liberalize the displaced persons law and admit 416,000 refugees, including 5,000 orphans, to the United States by June 30, 1951.

The action came on a senate-house conference report reconciling differences between the two branches of congress.

More than 166,000 displaced persons already have entered this country under the present program, which expires at the end of this month.

All of those persons will be subtracted from the over-all 416,000 total.

The measure contains somewhat stronger security provisions than the act passed in 1948 under which the displaced persons commission now operates.

False Choppers Golf Problem

LONDON. — (INS) — Golfers have been warned by Health Service officials to keep their false teeth in while knocking that little white pill around. A man put the bottom set of his false teeth in his jacket before playing golf at the public course at Croydon, London.

He left the jacket in the clubhouse. When he returned it was missing—and so were the teeth.

He reported the theft to the police and then applied to Croydon Dental Services Committee for a new pair of dentures.

The application was rejected. The committee decided that "there would not appear to be any reason why dentures should be removed while playing golf."

Mountain Laurel To Be Out Late In June

HARRISBURG, June 8.—Mountain laurel, (Kalmia latifolia) the official flower of the state of Pennsylvania, should be in full bloom this year during the last 10 days of June and into the early weeks of July, officials of the Department of Forests and Waters announced today.

The department, "custodian" of the colorful shrub, said scores of inquiries have been received requesting information on the "peak of the season." The blooms attract thousands of tourists from all over the country.

The shrub grows throughout the state, but is most common in the mountainous sections where it forms almost impenetrable thickets, department foresters added.

Carnegie Museum Exhibits Are Stolen

PITTSBURGH, June 8—(INS)—Thirteen antique watches and nine other objects of art were among the loots stolen from display cases at the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh.

The theft was reported yesterday by museum authorities who described the watches as "extremely valuable as collectors items."

Museum Director Wallace Richards said, however, that though the watches are highly valued by the museum, they have little if any commercial value.

The thieves took the items from display cases by breaking the locks and lifting the glass tops. The items were part of a collection given the museum by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dupuy in 1927.

ZEPHANIAH CALLS TO REPENTANCE

JEHOVAH WILL SAVE THOSE WHO SEEK HIM

Scripture—Zephaniah

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The prophet whose dire warnings we study today may have been distantly related to former kings of Judah. If he was, as indicated by the introduction to his prophecies, he was doubtless familiar with the habits—moral, physical and spiritual—of the wealthy but unbelieving people whom he so heartily berated.

About this time, we are told, there was a temporary incursion of Scythians into southwestern Asia. This was in the year 627 B. C. Zephaniah was sure that the day of reckoning had come for his people—indeed for the world as he knew it.

His prophecies never have come true, but as the world grows older and men of science discover more and more of earth's secrets, we wonder sometimes if the destruction so vividly pictured by the prophet of old may not come true, if we disregard God's warnings.

There are many prophets in the world today, warning us, as Zephaniah did his people; they plead with us to realize our danger, to repent us of our iniquities, to return to God, and join with all holy souls to save the world. Only man's soul, a modern poet tells us, is stronger that the atom bomb. It can control that bomb with His help.

Zephaniah's language is direct and forceful. Speaking in the name of the Lord, he said:

"And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with lamps; and I will punish the men that are settled on their lees, that say in their heart, Jehovah will not do good, neither will He do evil.

"And their wealth shall become a spoil, and their houses a desolation: yea, they shall build houses, but shall not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, but shall not drink the wine thereof.

"The great day of Jehovah is near, it is near and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of Jehovah; the mighty man crieth there bitterly.

"That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness.

"A day of the trumpet and alarm, against the fortified cities, and against the high battlements."

Picturesque language this, giving us a dismal picture indeed of what the prophet foresaw.

The men the poet threatened were those who lived at ease, without troubling themselves about social or spiritual righteousness. They had grown indifferent to their religion—possibly did not believe there was a Jehovah, or at any rate that He interfered for either good or evil in men's affairs.

Zephaniah.

"For Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive, and abundant in loving kindness unto all of them that call upon Thee."—Psalm 86:5.

Children are punished by their parents or guardians for their faults, not because they do not love them, but because they do. They must be taught what is right and what is wrong, so that they will grow up to choose the right and reject the wrong.

Older people suffer for their sins, too. For what we call crimes, they are shut up in prison; sometimes they forfeit their lives. But whether we are caught and punished physically for what we do, we suffer, for the voice of God within us informs us when we do evil.

Drastic as Zephaniah's threatenings were, he finished his short book on a joyous note—a comforting word.

"Seek ye Jehovah, all ye meek of the earth, that have kept His ordinances; seek righteousness, seek meekness; it may be ye will be hid in the day of Jehovah's anger.

"Jehovah thy God is in the midst of thee, a mighty one who will save; He will rejoice over thee with joy; He will rest in His love; He will joy over thee with singing."

Notice Served On President

WASHINGTON, June 8—(INS) Senate Republicans served advance notice on President Truman that his proposed creation of a three-man bi-partisan loyalty panel will be unacceptable to them or the public unless they can pick the GOP members.

Even Sen. Aiken (R) Vt., who is among those who have criticized the tactics of Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., forecast a "political stalemate" in the partisan battle over Communism.

President Truman's announcement of a new three-man unit to check on persons accused by McCarthy was delayed, it was learned, pending formal acceptances by two proposed members. A responsible source said that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, earlier reported as slated to head the panel, is now out of the picture.

House On Trailer Fails To Clear Underpass

LEMOYNE, Pa., June 8—(INS)—It was like trying to fit a size 10 foot into a size eight shoe.

The huge trailer carrying the small house combined measured 16 feet. The railroad overpass had a 14 foot ceiling.

The roof was knocked off the house and the house knocked onto the road. Heavy traffic streaming into nearby Harrisburg was blocked off for an hour.

The house was being moved from Lemoyne by J. I. Burkey for use as a garage at his West Fairview home.

Mrs. John Miner, wife of the man who sold the house, viewed the accident with this gem of understatement:

'Maybe they should have measured it first."

State Man At Pomona Grange

Memorial Conducted Honoring Deceased

Mahoning grange was host to the regular meeting of Lawrence County Pomona Grange, when Pomona Master Dale Currie presided. Reed Miller, of the host grange, welcomed the assembled group, with Lewis Dayton responding.

Opening feature of the meeting was a symposium of the book, "The Road Ahead," by John J. Flynn, given by L. Ammon, I. Wallace, E. Benson, B. Wigton, K. Maughan, O. Black, D. Kyle and G. Chapin. During the business session, it was announced that the Home Economics committee of the state is sponsoring a sewing contest of housecoats and cotton evening gowns. It is a national project. A better program contest is to be entered by each of the subordinate granges.

The juveniles of Mahoning presented the opening feature of the afternoon program including: reading, Ruth Patton; baton twirling, Patty Citanski and Sally Salzman; reading, Jane Allison.

Featured Address

State lecturer, Dr. Beatty Dimit, gave the featured address, "Can Peace Be Attained Through the United Nations?" He pointed out that there are too many factors against each other. We must cooperate for peace. Dimit stated we are in the midst of several revolutions, as in China, Asia and Africa, the backward people are awakening. There has been too much discrimination in races. In our nation we have undergone an industrial revolution in transportation, industry, etc., but we have not adjusted ourselves for the changes. The lecturer reminded that there are two powrs today, Russia and its group; England, United States and our group. Nations are rallying around these groups.

New gasses and germs would be released by the opposing sides, but they know, too, that they would suffer with its return. Nations must cooperate, smaller nations are coming to the front and may be the means of establishing peace if we are willing to work together. Atomic energy has good qualities and we can't disregard it as it is very helpful in medical research. We must control atomic energy which has many beneficial developments. We can do somethings for United Nations if we influence our government. Governments will be controlled by people.

Socialized ideals are similar to those of Christian faith, but means of achieving are vastly different. Socialists accept any means to achieve desired ends. For our high standard of living, our forefathers were willing to work. Money given to China will not change their minds. We took the wrong means in this. We must motivate them by Christian ideals, principles of brotherly love. We must see their viewpoint and cooperate with them. We must study problems of the world and change those depending on brute force. We must get the will toward peace. Are we letting the militarists go ahead with their plans.''

Memorial Service

The annual memorial service for deceased members was in charge of Pomona Chaplain Cochran. Deceased members included: Mrs. James Seley, Wilmington; Mrs. Sturgeon and Harvey Workley, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Elizabeth Byers and Rev. John Fife, Westfield; N. P. McHattie, Big Beaver; John L. Kyle and M. Bolzinski, North Beaver; Albert Genkinger, Mahoning Valley; Martha Russell and Joseph Baker, Liberty; F. W. Bradley and Alice Shields, New Bedford. During the service the men's quartet sang two sacred selections, followed by a reading given by Mrs. John Morrow.

The annual juvenile picnic will be held June 23 at 12:30 p. m. at Cascade Park The grange goes on record as opposing socialized medicine and will send resolutions to proper authorities.

The evening program was presented by Beaver County Pomona grange. Worthy State Overseer Shannon spoke on "Grange Heritage," the two principles on which the grange was founded: brotherhood of man and belief in God. Other participants included: reading, Ada C. Hobbs; harmony, James and Denver Weigle; play, New Brighton grange; vocal solo, Gayle Lowery; talk, Fred Shane; tableau, Mrs. Ethel M. Carroll. Lawrence County Pomona grange will return the traveling program to Beaver County Pomona Saturday evening, June 10, at Brighton grange.

June 13, Westfield grange will present the traveling treasure chest program at Willard grange. Young people of Lawrence county granges will have a party at Liberty grange, June 16.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

'I Don't Care!'

Do you remember the fable of the fox who kept trying to reach a high-hanging bunch of grapes only to give up and say, "Aw, they're sour, anyway?' This fable pictures so well what many of us do that we use the phrase "sour grapes mechanism" to describe similar things in everyday life.

Cynthia Ann has just moved into the neighborhood and the other children aren't very friendly. Before long she says, "I don't care. I'd rather play by myself, anyway." Jimmy doesn't play softball very well. He, too, says, "I don't care."

It's important for us as parents and teachers to realize that a lot of heartache usually lies behind "I don't care." Probably the youngsters who use it care desperately. But when they can't do what they wish they could, or when they're not accepted by other children, it is only natural for them to try to "save face" by pretending indifference or dislike.

Our job is not one of saying bluntly, "Oh, yes, you do," nor of acting as though they really mean what they say. Quietly, we can perhaps let Cynthia Ann invite a few of the neighborhood youngsters for an interesting excursion to the country, or, without making much of it, give Jimmy a little coaching on the side so he can play well enough to join the neighborhood team.

Rocket Motors May Be Used

All Previous Ground Operations Of Army Will Be Dwarfed

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Defense department indicated today that rocket motors will be used to give the army atomic barrage weapons that will dwarf all previous ground operations.

Missile technicans said it would be relatively simple to build rocket motors that will propel one-ton atomic projectiles over artillery ranges of 10 to 25 miles.

They said the projectiles could be tracked by radar while in flight, could be set off at any given moment, or could be "guided down a chimney" if a low-level explosion is desired.

Defense officials believe such weapons will give the army permanent superiority over any other ground force in the world. They do not believe Russia can achieve mass production of atomic explosives.

The rocket experts said motors needed for short ranges will be much smaller and less expensive than those familiar in high-altitude and long-range rockets.

The mammoth German V-2 rocket, weighing 14 tons including nine tons of fuel, carries only a one-ton projectile, but it has a range of 200 miles.

New 1275-Room Hotel Promised At Los Angeles

Sullivan Memorial Sought By Senator

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Sen. Gillette (D) Iowa, is introducing today a bill calling for "a suitable memorial" to honor the five Sullivan brothers of Waterloo, Ia., who died when the cruiser Juneau was sunk by the Japs on November 13, 1942.

The brothers were George, Francis, Joseph, Madison and Leo Sullivan, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Francis Sullivan. The boys' sister, Genevieve, later enlisted in the Waves and was partiarly disabled in an auto accident while she was in service.

Gillette's resolution proposed that five high-ranking navy officers constitute an honorary committee for his proposed Sullivan memorial.

Liberty Bell Visit Planned

A tour of the city, a band concert, and three short speeches constitute most of the plans to celebrate the arrival of the duplicate Liberty Bell which will be in New Castle, June 13.

The bell, an exact replica of the one at Independence Hall, will be here as part of the "Save For Your Independence" saving bond campaign.

Arthur L. Bigelow, one of the world's foremost bell masters, designed the bell that was constructed in France. The ringing of the bell, exactly the same tone as heard by the patriots in 1776, will take place throughout the city. City police and a military escort will accompany the bell on its tour of the community.

Ceremonies will then be held in front of the Legion Home on Jefferson street.

A representative of the Greater New Castle Association, co-sponsor of the bell here, will make a short talk introducing the purpose of the bell to the citizenry. Mayor John Haven will speak for the City of New Castle welcoming the bell.

Alfred H. Owens, chairman of the bond campaign will relate important facts about the bell, its construction, and its purpose. A concert by the American Legion band will follow.

Chinese Widow Now Under Surveillance

HONG KONG, June 8.—(INS)—An independent Hong Kong newspaper said today that Madame Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the "Father of Modern China," is under surveillance by the Chinese Communists with whom she has been collaborating.

The Chinese-language Wah Kiu Yat Pao, said that Madame Sun is suspected of conspiring against the Peiping government in which she is one of the non-Communist members of the consultative council.

Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung reportedly ordered her placed under surveillance after she disagreed with his policy on the grounds that it is "leaning to one side"—presumably the Russian side.

Madame Sun reportedly was ready to leave the Chinese mainland when the Communists uncovered evidence of her conspiracy with a "Nationalist clique" to overthrow the government.

Her arrest was ordered recently by the Nationalist government, headed by her brother-in-law, Chiang Kai-Shek, although she is well beyond the Nationalist grasp at present.

Carl Eppinger, prominent feed dealer in this area, was installed as president of the New Bedford Lions Club at a regular meeting of that organization Wednesday evening in the Grange Hall. Lion Eppinger is a charter member of the New Bedford Club and has served as a vice president since the group organized.

Installation ceremonies were in charge of Ralph Spence of Butler, member of the district cabinet and candidate for district governor of this area to be named late this month.

Other Officers Inducted

Other officers inducted into office last evening include: first vice president, T. Roger Dever; second vice, Douglas Tracy; third vice, Delmont Michaels; secretary, John Grunenwald; assistant secretary, Wylie Cooper; treasurer, Otto Goist; assistant treasurer, Frank Cover; tail-twister, Merrick Ventresco; assistant tail-twister, Pete Gorley; lion tamer, Bill Morris; directors, Paul Shields and Charles Grunenwald. George Kuhn and John Anderson continued for another year as directors.

In appreciation for her faithful service as pianist, the club presented Mrs. Frank Cover with a beautiful brief case and a note of good wishes signed by all the "gang".

Statue Unveiled

A statue of a lion, the gift of Jackie Williams, Jr., was unveiled. The unchristened lion will be the subject of a name selection contest and become a traditional mascot.

At the close of the formal installation, out-going president, Mel Moorhouse, spoke briefly tracing the history and progress of the club and then passed on the original King's pin and gavel to Carl Eppinger.

A past-president's pin was presented to Moorhouse who has served as King since the club was chartered February 19, 1948.

Sen. Taft Declares Sen. McCarthy Acts Entirely 'On Own'

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Senator Taft (R) Ohio, said today that Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., has operated "completely on his own responsibility" in making his charges of communism in the State department.

Taft told newsmen that the young Wisconsin senator launched the charges without seeking his advice or that of the Republican policy committee and has been on his own ever since.

The GOP policy leader said, however, that he felt it was "unfair" to accuse McCarthy of having voluntarily smeared individuals. He said it was Sen. Lucas (D) Ill., and the Tydings Loyalty Investigating committee who forced McCarthy into "publishing the few names he has published."

Taft said that while his advice was not sought, he said he would try to get McCarthy any aid he needed in developing "proper evidence" to support his charges.

Ordination To Close Meeting

Church Leaders To End Sessions Here

A great ordination service this evening at 7:30 o'clock will bring to a close the four-day eastern district conference of the Assemblies of God being conducted in the First Pentecostal church, Pearson at Epworth street. During the service, numerous young men who are entering the ministry, will be ordained as ministers of the gospel by visiting church officials.

Business sessions were conducted today in the church, when election of officers for the church year took place. Rev. A. Newton Chase, district superintendent, was in charge.

Missionary Rally

Wednesday evening a missionary rally took place in charge of Rev. John Horn. The song service was directed by Rev. Fleming VanMeter of Wilmington, Del. Miss Lucy Shelton, missionary to Liberia, Africa, was the initial speaker.

Rev. Carl Butler of India delivered an inspirational address, calling for a spirit of intercession, intercession for the lost of India. He reminded the audience of the stretched hands and hungry hearts of the India natives. He asked for a rededication of hearts and lives to God.

Rev. John Sproull of Bentleyville, Pa., responded with a vocal number, "What Shall I Give Thee, Master?". Rev. Charles Carmichael, field secretary to Palestine, Egypt and Lebanon, addressed the assembly, calling their attention to the fact that the Assemblies of God in its inception was raised up for the spreading of the gospel to the ends of the earth.

Wednesday evening's service closed with a large host of youth consecrating their lives to the gospel service at home and abroad. The delegates from Pennsylvania and Delaware will wend their way home this evening and others on Friday.

Doubts Congress Can Be Ready To Adjourn July 31

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—House Democratic leaders said privately today that Senate Majority Leader Lucas, Ill., was too optimistic in setting July 31 for adjournment of congress.

They indicated willingness to cooperate with a drive to adjourn on that date but expressed doubt that the senate will be able to complete its work by then.

The house spokesmen pointed out that while their own chamber is well ahead of schedule and able to mark time for prolonged periods, the senate is still confronted with an almost solid array of major bills requiring action before congress quits.

On the other hand, Lucas and other senate leaders have complained that unless the house ways and means committee sends them a tax bill by July 1, it will be impossible to complete congressional action on any revenue measure this session.

One of the house leaders pointed out, however, that there is a strong likelihood that the senate may become further bogged down when the house-passed social security bill is called onto the floor for debate. He commented:

It may very well take them three weeks or a month to dispose of that."

In addition, the senate must act on the giant 29 billion dollar omnibus appropriations bill which has already cleared the house.

There were 8,000 cars in the United States in 1900; on July 1, 1949, there were 32,730,718.

Scientific findings prove the following group of common foods supplies ALL the essential food elements: Meat, Milk, Bread, Fruit, Eggs and both Green-Leafed and Yellow Vegetables.

As the chart shows, Wonder Bread is very valuable—because it helps children grow bigger and stronger 8 ways.

Auxiliary Has Installation

Mrs. Orpha McConnell New President For Eagles Auxiliary

Ladies Auxiliary to New Castle Aerie No. 455, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held its regular meeting June 6, with President Mrs. Elsie Pugh, presiding.

The auxiliary's lodge room was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, and the auxiliary's colors, red, white and blue helped to enhance the setting.

During the business meeting, the assembly voted unanimously to make trustee and charter member, Mrs. Mary Peterson a life member in recognition of her eleven years of faithful service.

The president had all her officers, chairladies, the soloist and the pianist conducted to the altar, and presented each one with a lovely gift for their help in making her year a most successful one. Mrs. Olive Key on behalf of the auxiliary presented [illegible] to Mrs. Adaline Navarra as captain of the teams, Mrs. Henrietta Davis as auditor and Mrs. Cecelia Jackson as press reporter. Mrs. Jackson gave the retiring president a lovely rhinestone necklace, a gift from the auxiliary, and Mrs. Navarra and Mrs. Jackson each gave her a lovely personal gift.

Past president, Dorothy Heckart as installing officer, with the installing team under Captain Navarra conducted the new officers to the altar, Mrs. Heckart then gave the oath of office to the following officers and had them escorted to their respective stations: junior past president, Elsie Pugh; president, Orpha McConnell; vice president, Ruby Thompson; chaplain, Pearl White; secretary, Cecelia Jackson; treasurer, Kathryn Williams; conductress, Laura Williams; trustees, Mary Peterson, Olive Key and Helen Reno; inside guard, Martha Hook and outside guard, Clara Grimes. Mrs. Heckart then presented the new president to the members and gave her the ivory gavel, the symbol of authority.

President McConnell accepted the honor graciously and named Mrs. Pugh as the general chairlady for the year, and will give a complete list of her special committes and chairladies at the next regular meeting.

Mrs. Pugh and Mrs. Martha Hook had games and cards for the evening's entertainment and later served a delicious lunch, assisted by their aides, the Mesdames Georgia Hurst, Ruby Thompson, Helen DeFonso, Clara DeMatteo, Phyllis Grote and Clara Grimes.

There will be a practice for the Memorial team Tuesday, June 13, at 7:30 p.m. in preparation for the Memorial service in Coatesville, Pa., the latter part of June.

The committee plans a white elephant auction at the next regular meeting, Tuesday, June 20. President McConnell has donated a lovely gift for a door prize for the next meeting.

Threatens To Attach Excise Tax 'Rider'

WASHINGTON, June 8—(INS)—A high-ranking Senate Republican threatened today to try attaching an excise tax cut "rider" to other legislation if the Senate scuttles general tax revision.

Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., ranking GOP member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he might take such a step if the tax measure is forgotten in the rush toward adjournment.

The bill is still being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Senate Majority Leader Lucas, Ill., said earlier that tax legislation at this session of Congress is becoming "rather doubtful."

Millikin recalled last year's promise by leaders that this session of Congress would consider excise reductions. He said:

"It is commencing to appear that this legislation should be added as a rider to an appropriate Senate bill."

By custom, an "appropriate" bill for a rider is one which the President cannot afford to veto.

President Truman has made it clear that he will veto any measure which cuts excises without providing other means of replacing the lost revenue.

The Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, is plodding along with its new revenue bill, ignoring forecasts by Senate leaders that no final congressional action will be taken at this session.

Advocates Manpower Control Overhauling In Event Of War

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(INS)—A spokesman for the armed forces industrial college today advocated an over-hauling of the nation's manpower controls if there should be a third world war.

Col. George A. Harvey told the Franklin institute's field mobilibation course, attended by some 300 industrialists and military men, that manpower controls "failed in World War II."

He asserted that in the last war too many people went into the military service from industry, or moved from job to job because of the lack of adequate controls.

Col. Harvey declared:

"What we needed was the authority to direct workers from less essential to more essential activities. Manpower controls failed because our pre-war planning anticipated a relatively small military establishment."

He proposed three controls in the event of another wartime emergency:

"First, freeze individuals in essential jobs for a stabilization period.

"Second, prevent the use of wages as a hiring device.

"Third, make every employer, including the government, use the local employment agencies."

Sheep in Japan, which numbered 196,425 in 1946, reached a total of 459,000 in 1949.

CRACK IN WALL CAUSED THIS

CLEVELAND. — (INS) — Adequate street lighting is a definite crime curb. Ninety-eight percent of police chiefs questioned in a recent poll conducted by the street and traffic safety lighting bureau in Cleveland said crimes are seldom associated with the well-lighted street.

TRAVELING ZOO

TOKYO—(INS)—Japanese children living in rural areas will have their first look at an elephant and a lion this spring. A special train will carry the beasts on a nation-wide display tour designed to show the "real thing" to the tots. The elephant will travel in a specially constructed 25-ton freight car built at a cost of 250,000 yen.

The leopard is native to Africa and the warmer parts of Asia.

Name Outstanding Female 'Swimfant' For The Year

By OWEN CALLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—(INS)—A two-year-old girl who can swim 33 times the length of an average pool and can jump in the water fully clothed and undress herself was named "outstanding female swimfant" of the year today.

The tot is Mary Mustain, daughter of Mr. aud Mrs. Raymond Mustain of Corcoran, Cal.

Her feats are no surprise to Mrs. Crystal Scarborough. Little Mary is only one of 7,166 infants Mrs. Scarborough has taught to swim in past years.

Mrs. Scarborough, winner of the international 25-mile championship race from Corona, Ark., to Memphis, Tenn., in 1930, started swimming at the age of two. She recalled that her father, a speedboat enthusiast, used to take her aquaplaning on the Tennessee river 43 years ago.

"I was dumped in the water more times than I can remember and Dad would fish me out with a pole," she said.

Infants Learn To Swim

Mrs. Scarborough began her career as a swimming instructor at Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., when she discovered that infants could be taught to swim better than older children because tots are more relaxed.

She came to Hollywood where her reputation became so well known that parents fly their children to her from all over the United States so that she may teach them to swim. Little Mary Mustain was one of her "fly-in" pupils.

Mrs. Scarborough has taught the children of many film notables to swim, including Portland Mason, June Allyson's little Pamela; Milton Berle's Vicki; the two-year-old twins of Joan Crawford and Rita Hayworth's Rebecca.

Babies Take Lessons

At this moment she has between 30 and 40 babies taking lessons.

"I think people in California are more aware of the necessity of learning to swim," Mrs. Scarborough said. "Maybe one reason is because California leads the nation in drownings. We have more pools, beaches, open irrigation ditches and canals than any other state—and they always pose as hazards for the young ones."

She also is teaching adult swimmers her methods of instructing infants. One of them is Nancy White of Leroy, N. Y., who flew to Hollywood for that express purpose.

Mrs. Scarborough also is writing a book on her experiences titled, "swimming with my Swimfants."

Local Men To Be W. And J. Grads

Commencement exercises will be held at Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., Saturday morning, June 10.

The following local youths will receive the bachelor of arts degree at the college:

Edward Burr, Garfield avenue, was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and is graduating with a major in economics and a minor in political science. He was a member of the Inter-Collegiate conference on government which participates annually in a mock convention with students from the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Donald Onasch, R. D. 7, is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, which he served as treasurer for one year. His major field of study was economics.

Robert Tilton, Delaware avenue, is a member of Lamba Chi Alpha fraternity, which he served as president for two years and as a representative of the Student Council and Phi Alpha Theta society.

MACON, Ga.—Revenue agents waste no time with moonshiners. A man was arrested in the act of putting up his still. He hadn't had a chance to start operating yet. He was charged with illicit distilling of whiskey.

Big Increase In Ingot Capacity

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said that American steel companies are adding more than 2,000,000 tons to their annual ingot capacity this year, and almost as much in 1951.

It explained that the enlarged capacity is coming from installation of new facilities and improvements to existing plants.

The national metalworking weekly noted that counting these 4,000,000 tons, the nation's steel industry will have added more than 11,000,000 tons to its steelmaking capacity in the six years following the war.

It observed that this additional capacity alone would permit output of more steel than was made last year in either France or Germany, and represents just about half of Russia's 1949 production.

Dr. Chas. M. Lee Has Put Signature To Over 3500 Diplomas

Chances are they're planning to graduate and for 32 years his signature has been necessary to make diplomas official.

As secretary of the faculty from 1918 through 1949, and as president since then, he has signed approximately 3500 diplomas.

Dr. Lee recently completed his biggest signing task when he placed his name on the certificates for 159 June graduates.

Buy U.S. Bonds

By LOUIS JOHNSON,
Secretary of Defense
Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 8—I am pleased to call your attention to the current drive of the Treasury Department to promote the purchase of United States Savings Bonds. I wholeheartedly subscribe to this program.

It is a wonderful plan whereby the people of our country can aid the financial security of the government and, at the same time, establish their own personal independence for the future. I hope that this year more people than ever will share in this method of saving.

Truly the 1950 campaign symbol, the Liberty Bell, and the slogan "Save for Independence," typify our traditional faith in American faith of American thrift, economy and individual freedom.

William Nicholson Is Art Graduate

William D. Nicholson of Windham, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholson of 832 Butler avenue, was graduated from the Cleveland Institute of Art, after completing a four-year course in painting and design.

He is the husband of Mrs. Joan Simpson Nicholson, formerly of Winter avenue, this city, and now of Windham.

Commencement services were held in Severance hall, Cleveland, O., Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Nicholson was one in a class of 90 graduates to complete the course.

At present he is enrolled in Kent State university, where he is taking a year's course in art education.

Two Walmo Pupils Get Legion Awards

Mary Lou Thomas, 159 West Meyer avenue, and Robert Hughes, Graceland road, R. D. 5, were presented with American Legion certificates of school award by Attorney Robert White at Walmo school last week.

The awards are presented annually for the eighth grade student pupils for outstanding work in all phases of the school program.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .
As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.
If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Six Schools Guilty Of Violating 'Code'

CLEVELAND, June 8.—(INS)—Six members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association have been found guilty of violating the association's "sanity code" at a meeting of the enforcement committee in Cleveland.

Prof. Clarence P. Houston of Tufts College, committee chairman, declined to reveal the identity of the six schools, but said that the cases against them will be presented to the NCAA Council which meets in Chicago in August.

A total of 20 schools were under investigation at the three-day meeting which ended late yesterday.

Dodgers Humble Pirates, 9 To 0

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—The lights at Forbes field broke down just before game time last night, but electricians got them fixed after a half hour's delay, and thereby hangs a sad tale.

Sad for the Pittsburgh Pirates who then went on to bow to the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-0.

Don Newcombe, Dodger right-hand pitcher, scattered six hits for his fifth victory against two losses for the season.

Guzetti chipped in with a single, double, and home run in five trips to aid the winner's attack.

Pierre walked seven and struck out four but was stingy with the base knocks. D. Tanner got the only safety, a single.

Six St. Lucy errors helped New Galilee turn 13 hits into nine runs.

After one was retired in the last of the seventh, a hits batsman and a walk put two on and set the stage for Marshall's key swat.

Franchino went all the way for Koppel. August Anderson was relieved by Goog Anderson in the seventh for Bessemer. Curly Anderson caught.

Herb Churchill Marks Up His Fifth Victory Of Year; Tonight Is 'Ladies Night'

The Senators evened up the series with Niagara Falls last night by winning 5 to 4, as Herb Churchill, racked up his fifth win of the year, against no defeats, to become the top Mid-Atlantic league hurler.

But, Mr. Churchill in winning required a lot of relief pitching from "Fireman" George Becka with the sacks loaded in the eighth and allowing but one hit and run thereafter putting out the blaze. Becka fanned Kovalak to end a very bad eighth inning for The Senators.

Rossman Pitches Tonight

Manager Chuck Cronin announced last night that Bernard Rossman, with a (2-2) record will take the mound for The Senators tonight to try and give the locals the series edge. Manager Mike Ulisney of the Border Town club was reticent about his starting hurler, until game time tonight, this being his customary policy.

Tonight is "Ladies' Night", the fair sex getting into the park for the paying of a 25 cent service charge. This will be the final home appearance for The Senators until next Monday night, when Oil City will play here. The Senators are billed for a first-place battle at Butler the next three days.

Butler Edges Vandergrift

The Senators by winning last night in a game replete with good, bad and indifferent baseball, still trail by one game today as Butler edged Vandergrift 8 to 7 at Vandergrift. Erie hung in third place rather secure, by shutting out Oil City 7 to 0 at Erie.

There was everything on the baseball calendar last night, sparkling plays, bad plays, balks, wild pitches, passed balls and to top it all off—Gene Bilo the Senators' speed-merchant stole three bases on Manager Mike Ulisney and pitcher John Freeman. The Ellwood City Boy really had a great night on the paths, as he recorded his 24th stolen base of the year, to lead the league by a country mile.

Senators Hit Better

The Senators shook off their batting slump last night, to get six blows off of Freeman with Johnny Vizzini leading the locals with a pair of singles. Steve Magula with a double and single led the Falls at bat.

Becka the demon reliefer scored the winning run for the Senators in the eighth inning, he walked to start the inning, advanced to second when pitcher DeMuzio fielded a bunt by Gene Bilo and threw wild to second base, advanced to third as DeMuzio messed up another bunt by Vizzini and scored on a passed ball by Ulisney.

Donates Two Runs

Churchill handed the New York Staters two runs in the eighth by committing a balk with the bases loaded, after walking a run in as he loaded the bases with three walks and a hit batsman. Becka came on to extinguish the flames.

For the first seven innings Churchill and Freeman engaged in a real pitching duel, the latter allowing but six hits and Churchill gave up four hits.

There'll be real excitement at six o'clock today when the Lawrence Indies and Universal clash on Chmurra field, because the Unis are only one game in the rear of the City league leading Indies. St. Margaret, now deadlocked with the Unis oppose Fees at Mahoningtown. A victory for either the Saints or the Unites and a defeat for the Indies will put them in first place with the Indies in second place.

Wednesday the fees scored their third and winning run in the fifth to defeat the Field Artillery, three to two at Fees field. Smiley doubled and scored on Rogan's single. Bechtol hit a home run. Smiley relieved Richard in the fourth for the Fees and held the Artillery hitless, after Richard had allowed three. Adams was found for seven hits.

Two western Pennsylvania high school baseball teams clashed this afternoon at Flaherty Field for the WPIAL championship.

Open Golf Winner To Pocket $4,000

ARDMORE, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—Pros participating in the 50th U. S. open golf championship at Merion golf club had an added "inspiration" today—$5,000 worth of it, in fact.

The USGA's executive committee announced that it has hiked the prize money from $10,000 to $15,000. Officials stressed that the boost will affect only this year's "golden anniversary" open.

First prize was upped from $2,000 to $4,000, while second prize was raised from $1,500 to $2,500.

Approximately 20 more prizes were added for the pros, with $100 voted to every pro who completes the 72-hole card but fails to place within the first 30.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

AS ONE JOURNEY'S through Memory's Lane, thoughts revert to some local men prominent in some line of athletic, or outdoor activity in years gone by. The majority of them have passed to their reward, but their feats are yet recalled by older gentry of the community.

In the 70's, there was no more renowned baseball outfit than the Neshannocks, which was succeeded by a team of similar name, in the 80's. Among the players on both outfits were Charlie Bennett, Bob Whaley, the Richardsons, Williamson, Quest, Ed. Bigley and Plummer Emery.

About this time, Jeff McCullough and Benny Hoover were pitching and catching in Edenburg vicinity. Later came along Red Rowan, Link Lowe, Larry Gilboy and Dutch Crum. No doubt there were many more whose names are not now remembered.

However, none of them remained active as a player longer than did Bill Andrews who was yet playing at the age of 63. Among the umpires was Charlie Mayne, known in those days as "Bunt", which was his mother's maiden name.

Charlie umpired games in which the Great Rube Waddell pitched. Rube Jones, yet around, was a noted umpire. Among those yet here, and active as a tailor, is Bill Hodgkinson, who, in a game at Butler, twirled his team to victory with Waddell pitching against him.

In the early days of football, none was more formidable than Carl Forkins. Ed. Logan, yet practicing law, was a star at Ne-Ca-Hi and later at W. & J. George Muse was usually referred to as the "father" of Ne-Ca-Hi football.

As a college wrestler, Sam Clark grappled at the niversity of Pennsylvania. B. F. Butler was a disciple of horseshoe pitching, having time and again pitched quoits, and brought champions here to display their ability.

Fishing also had its experts, among them having been Joe Johnson, C. Ed. Smith, Perry Green, George Fix, and many others, very few of whom ever returned from a stream without a good catch.

Jared Reis was one of the most renowned of outdoorsmen. He was interested vitally in conservation. A. D. Newell possessed some of the best bird dogs the city has owned. Joe Williams now has some of the best in the nation. Billy McConnell also owned some great dogs decades ago.

In horse racing here Mr. McConahy often raced against horses driven by Clyde Shoaf, Harper Dick ,et. al. Jack Crowl had a horse or two, as did Pete Capitolo. Recently, Joe Rick took over the burden of upholding the city's reputation in trotting and pacing affairs.

In running there were some of wide fame, Jimmy Dime having been one of the best quarter miler in the nation. Duke Coyne of Toronto, who resided here for years, was a flash—one of the greatest in the world. Claude Patton, the local electrician was also a fleet man in a dash, and one of the best, locally.

The city has had many more men whose names are not mentioned here but who were good performers and some of the younger element must look sharp to win the prestige their predecessors achieved.

Snead Favored To Cop Title

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

ARDMORE, Pa., June 8—Tee sho[illegible]tled into that beautifully-manicured din[illegible] tran[illegible]d the Merion Golf Club today, and 165 of the game's noblest lords struck for the game's noblest prize—the golden anniversary U.S. Open c[illegible]hip.

Eleven former Open champions and Sam Snead, who pleads not guilty, headed the bright cast of characters into today's opening round over the 6,694-yard, par-70 Merion layout which caused unparalleled suffering among the golfing trespassers in the 1934 Open.

That championship, won by Olin Dutra, whose 72-hole score of 293 was 13 resigned strokes over par, saw only one sub-par round in more than 400 tries, and only three par 70's.

284 May Win

But Hope, the well-dressed miscreant, was all over the place this morning. Golfers who should know better said it would take 280 to secure the $15,000 classic come windup time Saturday twilight, and even the consensus centered on 284, which is two strokes less than Cary Middlecoff consumed in winning the Open a year ago.

Middlecoff, to be sure, was among the warmest choices for the current championship. Playing, rather amazingly, with only two clubs (his niblick and wedge) still remaining from the set that won him the big one last year, Middlecoff ranked front and center with Snead, Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum, Jackie Burke and Norman Von Nida.

Reds Trade Ron Northey To Cubs For Bob Scheffing

CINCINNATI, O., June 8.—(INS)—The Cincinnati Reds have signed 24-year Bobby Wilson, much-sought-after outfielder who graduated this week from the University of Mississippi.

At the same time the Reds revealed the trade of outfielder Ron Northey to the Chicago Cubs, also of the National League, for catcher Bob Scheffing.

Wilson, who also was a college football star, batted .412 in the Southeastern Conference this year. He will give up football although drafted in the professional football league drawings.

A right-hander, Wilson was signed to a Tulsa, Tex., club contract but will report to Charleston in the Central League.

The 30-year-old Northey, a lefty, is batting .260. He came to the Reds in a trade with St. Louis last winter. Scheffing, 34, bats from the right and has been with the Cubs since 1941. He has seen little service with the Cubs this year.

Musial Suffers Injury To Hand

Cardinal Star Out Of Lineup

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—(INS)—Stan (The Man) Musial, the Cardinals' league-leading slugger, is out of the line-up with his second injury of the year.

The star first baseman split his left hand when he caught a hard throw from relief pitcher Al Brazle in the fifth inning of last night's game with the Boston Braves.

It is belived he will be out of the lineup for only a few days. The wound, deep but not long, required one stitch by Club Trainer Doc Weaver.

Musial was out in the early weeks of the season when he wrenched his knee.

He joins a growing Cardinal casualty list, which includes outfielder Chuck Diering, catcher Joe Garagiola, third baseman Tommy Glaviano, ace relief hurler Ted Wilks and first baseman Nippy Jones

MARITAL ADVICE

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—For a romantic marriage, don't identify love only with sex, but consider each aspect of life together as potentially romantic. That was the advice of Dr. Charles C. Noble, dean of the chapel at Syracuse university in a talk to co-eds at the State College of Home Economics at Cornell.

A person's bones do not die until about three days after he is dead.
